GREEKS AND SERVIANS FORM ALLIANCE F.O.R WAR ON BULGARIANS

An Attack by the Bulgarian Troops Against Alliance Is Expected on the River Vardar, in Macedonia

ALLIES PREPARE TO REPULSE INVADERS

After Uniting and Returning Victorious Over the Turks, Balkan Allies Now Turn Guns Against Each Other

(By Associated Press.)

VIENNA, June 21.—An attack by the Bulgarian troops on the Servians and Greeks is expected on the River Vardar, in Macedonia, according to Austrian newspapers.

Co-operation of the Greek and Servian armies has been accomplished. The Servians are concentrating in fortified positions on the right bank of the river.

Three brigades of Montenegrin infantry are advancing through Macedonia to join the Servian troops at the front.

The Vardar river runs through Macedonia to the Gulf of Salonikl. The Bulgarians occupy the coutry along the left bank, while the Syrians and the Greeks hold the positions on the opposite bank.

Soldiers Slain in War Remain Unburied at Scutari

(By Associated Press.)

VIENNA, Austria, June 21.—An interpellation was addressed to the Austrian government in parliament today asking for information about health conditions in Scutari.

The introducer asserted that semi-decomposed and half-mummified corpses of Turkish soldiers still were lying unburied in the vicinity of the fortress.

The attack was aimed at Vice Admiral Cecil Burney, of the British navy, who commands the international force occupying Scutari.

CORNELL IS FAVORITE IN GREAT BOAT RACE

Uncertain Weather Faces Oarsmen in Great Regatta on the Hudson

(By Associated Press.)

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21.—Uncertain weather conditions for the inter-collegiate races over the Poughkeepsie course on the Hudson this afternoon faced oarsmen of the seventeen crews representing Cornell, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Wisconsin, Washington and Syracuse when they arose early this morning. The weather man promised freshening skies by late afternoon.

Cornell still was favorite in the big race by 8 to 10 against the crews of Columbia, Washington and Pennsylvania. Slight odds were given on Cornell against Syracuse and Wisconsin.

Crowds of college men who had been at New London to witness the Yale-Harvard races, began to arrive early this morning and later special trains brought additional thousands.

Practically every seat on the forty cars which will make up the observation train had been sold last night. Tickets in the hands of speculators brought fancy prices.

Not a case of indisposition was reported in any of the six training camps today.

There was no practice this morning but some of the crews had a light row. The oarsmen returned to their respective quarters in their launches and were ordered to report at the one mile mark an hour before the big race, which is scheduled at 6 o'clock.

The four oared race was programmed for 4 o'clock and the freshman contest for 4:40.

A number of excursion steamers arrived early and were assigned advantageous points near the finish line. The United States revenue cutter Mohawk was on hand to police the course.

The first race was scheduled for the start of the ebb tide and the varsity race for the maximum of the ebb. A north or northwest wind combined with the ebb tide is regarded as the ideal condition.

The reported statement by the stewards that "the races will be rowed for the crews and not the spectators," gave indications that water and weather conditions must be entirely satisfactory to prevent a postponement.

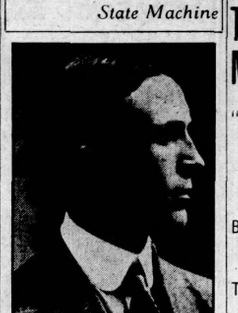
Loses Control of State Machine



GOVERNOR BEN W. HOOPER.

Tennessee's executive elected on fusion ticket. By the new law passed over his veto, the control of elections passes to the hands of the regular Democrats.

TENNESSEE REGULARS NOW CONTROL MACHINE

During Extra Session Election Law Is Called Up and Passed Over Governor's Veto

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 21.—In the Tennessee house of representatives today a number of extra sergeant-at-arms were apointed, the entrance guarded and the bill amending the election law suddenly called up and passed over the governor's veto, 54 to 18. The effort to pass this bill over the veto was undertaken by the "regular" Democrats during the absence of a quorum. The amendment in that shape is now pending for the supreme court.

The election law amendment transfers the control of the state election primarily from the fusionists to the "regular" Democrats and to prevent its passage over the governor's veto was one of the main causes of the recent fusion filibuster to Middlesboro, Ky.

The amendment was called up this morning just after the house had passed the bill providing for short term loans to care for the state debt.

Fusionists were prevented from breaking a quorum by the extra sergeants-at-arms at the barred doors.

In the pending litigation over the election law amendment, the "regular" Democrats have heretofore relied upon the fact that the house journal had not been allowed to show the lack of a quorum, when the effort was made to pass the measure over the governor's veto during the filibuster, certain of the filibusters then being counted as simply as "not voting." The amendment has passed the senate in due form.

What bearing today's action will have on the pending litigation is not yet apparent. The action threatened to provoke a storm in the house but resulted in only impassioned speeches.

HUERTA'S SOLDIERS REACH NUEVO LAREDO

After Seven Firece Battles With Rebels, General Tellez Arrives

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, June 21.—News of the arrival of the federal commander, General Joaquin Tellez, at Nuevo Laredo, has caused great satisfaction here. Government supporters profess to believe that this means early opening of traffic on the National railway.

The report has been unofficially circulated that the opening of the line would bring recognition of the Mexican administration by the United States.

General Urello Blanquet, the minister of war, has promised the cabinet that he will have the railroad running before the end of this month.

To the north of Monterey the railroad is open to Golonorinas, ninety miles south of Nuevo Laredo. North of San Luis Potosi it is open almost to Venegas. Between them and Saltillo in the state of Coahuila, however, many bridges have been cut.

Gustavo Maas, with a column of federal troops recently sent from the capital, has reached Venegas and is operating from there.

General Joaquin Tellez reported today that he has had seven fights with the rebels between Villa Lama, in the state of Nuevo Leon to Nuevo Laredo, in the state of Tamaulipas.

The heaviest engagement took place two days ago when the federal troops succeeded in recapturing the town of Lampazos, in Nuevo Leon, after inflicting great losses on the rebels.

Three boat loads of troops are expected to leave Tampico and Vera Cruz tomorrow. They are to disembark near the mouth of the Rio Grande for Carita Matamoras.

CREMATORY CONTRACT TO BE APPROVED BY MAYOR FOR $260,000

"Have Decided to Oppose It No Longer," Said Mayor Woodward, Saturday, After Looking Over Contract

BUT WILL INSIST THAT TERMS MEET CONDITIONS

To Announce Conclusion on Contract Monday—Then It Will Go to Council and Back to Him Later

Terms of a contract between the city and the Destructor company for the purchase of the crematory practically were agreed Saturday morning by W. D. Ellis, Jr., the assistant city attorney, and Mayor Woodward.

Mr. Ellis submitted to the mayor a contract which he drew Friday, spending nearly the entire day on the work. Mayor Woodward listened to the reading of the contract and agreed substantially to the terms and conditions stated therein. Before committing himself definitely, however, he asked for time in which to read the contract himself. He expects to give his answer Monday.

"All I want is a contract drawn right," said the mayor to the reporters. "I don't want it to contain any reference whatever to the original contract, which the supreme court pronounced illegal. I want it to protect the city's interest in every way. And I want it to be backed up by a bond that means something—one that the city can collect if the plant fails to do what it is guaranteed to do."

When the mayor has agreed finally and definitely to a contract, and the Destructor company's attorneys have agreed, a special meeting of council will be called for the purpose of passing the contract. The present negotiations with the mayor are preliminary. The contractwill not be ready for him to sign until council has passed it. But the preliminary negotiations will be the means of saving time, as if council passed a contract which the mayor was not willing to sign, when the thole whole proceedure would have to be gone over again.

The mayor claims there is no reason why he and council should not be able to get together.

"I have decided to oppose the crematory no further," he said Saturday morning. "While I think $260,000 is still too much to pay, at the same time I think it will be worth a great deal to the city in future years to have stopped these moral obligations, and my fight has certainly accomplished that much. If council wants a contract that protects the city's interests, then we will have no trouble getting together."

First Applicant for Policewoman's Job is In Line for a Place

The first woman to apply for a position on the squad of female officers proposed by Chief of Police Beavers sent her application to the police head Saturday morning. She is Mrs. Elizabeth Abrams, of 168 Central avenue.

Mrs. Abrams wrote that she thinks there is a need for women on the force and declared that they would see many things that men now do not see.

Chief Beavers has taken no action relative to the establishment of the squad as yet, but he will include a recommendation for police women in his next report to the board of police commissioners. Several members of the board have declared already in favor of the proposition.

ILL HEALTH FREES MILITANT FROM PEN

Miss Laura Geraldine Lennox, Editor of "The Suffragette," Released

LONDON, June 21.—Ill health arising from a "hunger strike," resulted in the release of Miss Laura Geraldine Lennox, formerly editor of the Suffragette, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by the central crminal court on June 17 for conspiring to damage property.

Militant suffragette "arson squads" were out last night at St. Andrews, Scotland, and at South End on the Lower Thames, and caused considerable damage.

At St. Andrews the east wing of the Gatty Marine laboratory was destroyed and many valuable instruments were burned.

At South End the costly church of St. John was set on fire, but the damage was not great.

WASTEFUL GEORGIA

DATE OF FRANK TRIAL STILL IN MUCH DOUBT

Belief Grows That Case Will Not Come Up Before July 14 or 28

Interest in the Phagan case still centers on the time of the trial of Leo M. Frank. Indications still are that the case will not be tried the week of June 30.

Solicitor Dorsey has never finally committed himself on the matter but Colonel Frank A. Hooper, who is associated him, still expects the case to be set for that date.

Mr. Hooper expects the trial to last a week. The jail will not have been cleared by June 30, according to court attaches, and it is the general policy of the court to clear the jail of as many cases as possible before entering into a lengthy trial. In addition the Fourth of July, a holiday, comes in the week of June 30 and this might mean that the jury would be locked up during a day that the court was not in session. Still further there is the possibility that the defense will ask for a postponement.

Judge L. S. Roan will not have to hold court in the Stone Mountain circuit on either the week of July 14, or the week of July 28, and as a result it is now considered extremely probable that Frank will face a jury on one of those dates.

Apparently the Phagan case is at a standstill. Saturday both Luther Z. Rosser and Reuben R. Arnold, who will be associated with the defense in all probability, were out of the city, on business said not to be connected with the case.

Mr. Hooper, who is in charge of the state's case during the absence in New York of Solicitor Dorsey, states that *there have been no developments of im*portance, and that the state is ready for the trial, whenever Mr. Dorsey returns and sets it on the court calendar.

Mr. Hooper was not interested in the return of Mrs. Mima Formby, maker of a sensational affidavit, to the city. The state made no effort to find her when she left the city, and apparently there is no chance of her being used as a witness unless the defense puts Frank's character in issue.

During the absence of Solicitor Dorsey, Detectives Starnes and Campbell have been working under his instructions smoothing over rough places in the state's case, but nothing of importance has been developed.

DAMAGE OF $500,000 TO CROPS BY STORM

Hail Cuts South Georgia and Florida Tobacco Plants to Ribbons

QUINCY, Fla., June 21.—Damage estimated at $500,000 was done to growing crops by the hail storm which followed Wednesday's tornado, in Gadsden and adjoining counties in northern Florida and southern Georgia, according to delayed reports received here today.

The greatest damage was done to the tobacco crop, the hail cutting the growing plants into the ground. The wind storm destroyed the shade boards covering a large area in which tobacco is grown, and a large number of sheds in which tobacco was stored were demolished.

MOBILE, Ala., June 21.—A special to the Mobile Item from Pensacola, Fla., says:

Gadsden county, Florida, was visited by a terrific wind and hail storm Wednesday night which, it i sestimated, did $1,000,000 damage. Only one death has been reported thus far. The tobacco crop will be almost a total loss as much of it was literally beaten to pieces by the wind and hail. Many shade trees were also blow away and, a number of tobacco barns destroyed. The tobacco industry is the principal support of the people of Gadsden county, practically the entire county being covered with tobacco fields.

DESPERATE BANDITS HOLD SHERIFF'S POSSE AT BAY

Deputies Gradually Close in on Three Refugees Hiding in Swamp Near Waycross

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WAYCROSS, Ga., June 21.—With all means of exit guarded and some of Georgia's most experienced man-hunters in charge of the search, it is regarded as merely a question of a few hours before Andrew Solomon, 28 years old, and Randall Solomon, 30, and James Register, supposed to be an army deserter, will be arrested on charges of the robbery of trains of the Atlantic Coast Line, and for assault with intent to murder.

The refugees have been trailed to a big swamp near Kirkland, a few miles northeast of this place, where deputies are gradually hemming them in, prepared for a battle at any moment.

Following the attack on the freight train the men were tracked by bloodhounds to the house of Jesse Carver, near Douglas, but fled to the swamp before they could be captured.

The assault charge will be made because of the attempt on the lives of Leroy McWhite, of Albany, and J. W. Jennings, of Waycross, members of a train crew running between Waycross and Albany.

They also are thought to have been members of the gang which fired on a freight train near here yesterday.

The men, who are armed with rifles, are said to be in hiding in a big swamp near Kirkland, a few miles northeast of this place. Deputies are gradually hemming them in, and a pitched battle is imminent.

Evidence was found today of hundreds of dollars' worth of merchandise taken from trains and from stores and depots in the vicinity of Kirkland. It is also stated that the officers expect to connect one or more of the men hiding in the swamp near Kirkland with a recent murder committed in Kirkland, when two persons were seriously shot and another fatally wounded by loads from shotguns.

Special agents of the Atlantic Coast Line are remaining in the scene of the shooting and robbery yesterday. That the alleged outlaws will resist every effort to capture them is known, and officers are taking no chances with them.

The elder Solomon is an escaped convict from Berrien county, and today it is claimed that the convict warden of Berrien has been aware of his whereabouts for some time. The younger Solomon also is wanted on a charge of assault with intent to murder and has served several sentences on the Coffee county chaingang.

Snuff in Bandits' Shoes Throws Bloodhounds Off Trail

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DAUGLAS, Ga., June 21.—Sheriff Gillis, of Coffee county, and his posse, have returned from Kirkland in the lower part of the county, where they went to try to capture Randall Solomon and Andrew Solomon, who had been located in the house of Jesse Carver, both of whom are charged with robbery of a freight train of the Atlantic Coast Line road at Kirkland on Friday night.

The train had stopped at the water tank and one of the cars was broken open and a big amount of goods stolen. Several men took part in the bold robbery. They were seen by the train crew but escaped after putting a bullet through the hat of the conductor of the train.

Randall Solomon is also wanted as an escaped convict from the convict camp of Berrien county, having been convicted in Coffee county about two years ago for burning the store of E. L. Bledsoe, in Broxton.

Sheriff Gillis organized a strong posse that went to Kirkland yesterday in automobiles. They got within sight of the house where the Solomons were staying, but the refugees forewa a raid and escaped through a thick cornfield into a nearby swamp known as the "Roundabout."

The sheriff of Wayne county was communicated with, and he also rushed to the scene on a special train, bringing well trained bloodhounds with him. The dogs were immediately put on the trail, but failed to catch the desperate men. It is said that the Solomons put snuff in their shoes to prevent the dogs from trailing them.

It also is stated that the Solomons have a shanty on one of the islands in the "Roundabout," where they stay a part of the time. They are said to be well armed and are looked upon as desperate men. No effort will be spared to catch them.

THREE OFFICERS NAMED IN NEW TRUST CO. SUIT

Petitioners Amend Suit to Keep Smith, Sims and Miles From Interfering

Samuel E. Smith, W. A. Sims and Henry S. Miles, officers of the Guarantee Bank and Trust company, which recently was placed in the hands of temporary receiver by Superior Court Judge Pendleton, were named personally in the litigation Saturday in an amended bill filed by the suing stock and bond holders, and were accused of a conspiracy to divert the company's funds to their private uses.

The bill, submitted by Charles T. Hopkins, attorney for the plaintiffs and intervenors, charges "fraud and manipulation" in the organization of the present company and in the taking over to the liabilities and alleged insolvencies of the old Guarantee Trust company.

This merger, or rather formation of the present company from the old, the suit set forth, was accomplished by Messrs. Sims, Smith and Miles "to conceal the insolvent condition" of the old Guarantee company and to permit the three men "to continue fraudulently to sell" bonds and stock, percentages of which sales were turned to private uses.

TRANSFER'S BASIS ATTACKED.

The entire transfer was made "on a fraudulent basis," the suit alleged, and the real financial status of the affair, while kept carefully on the books of the company, was concealed from investors who were duped by "fake" or "dummy" financial statements. It is asserted that at the time of the transfer the net assets of the old Guarantee were fixed at $32,000, whereas the company had real liabilities of more than $400,000.

After the company was organized, the suit said, the stock and bond sales were placed in the hands of the John E. Dickinson agency, operated by the father-in-law of Samuel E. Smith. Statements of the company's condition and status were given out by this agency to promote the sale, which, it is asserted, were grossly untrue.

Among the statements said to have been made in the reports circulated by the sales agency which are attacked in the suit are these: that the company's affairs were subject to investigation by state authorities; that the company had surplus and undivided profits of $1,000,000 and a paid-up capital of $500,000, and that 75 per cent of money received from the sale of debenture and other bonds was to be set aside as a reserve.

The organization of the new company, the amendment said, resulted from the knowledge possessed by three men that debenture bonds issued by the old Guarantee were about to mature and indebtedness could not be met.

While asserting that the plaintiffs were remedless at low, the suit asked for a temporary order restraining the officers from interfering with the company's affairs.

The amendment to the petition asking a receiver was filed after Judge Pendleton had named W. D. Robinson as temporary receiver for the company. In his order following an agreement reached by the several lawyers involved, Judge Pendleton granted a 20 days' supersedeas, staying the actual transfer to the receiver until appeal could be made by the company's attorneys.

LITTLE GIRL DYING WHO SWALLOWED COLORED CRAYON

Little 7-Year-Old Mary Tribble, Policeman's Daughter, Lies Paralyzed and Doctors Doubt Her Recovery

PARENTS GAVE CRAYONS; THEY LOOKED LIKE CANDY

On Last Day of School She Fell Ill—Teeth Marks in the Crayon Stubs—"Aniline Poison," Say Doctors

For two weeks little seven-year-old Mary Tribble has been lying at her home in East Atlanta in an unconscious condition. Her whole body is paralyzed, her face is distorted, she knows no one, and she cannot speak. Doctors believe that she cannot live.

A little box of colored wax crayons is supposed to be the cause. A week before school was dismissed little Mary was drawing with them in the school room. The bright colors attracted her, she bit a little piece of one, tried another, liked the taste, and is believed to have eaten a number of them.

DYE POISON, SAY DOCTORS.

When Mary came home from school on the last day she fell ill and in a few hours became unconscious. All efforts in the days since then have failed to arouse her from that comatose condition. Doctors have studied her case. It is their opinion that the crayons contained some analine dye poison which caused her illness.

Little Mary is the daughter of Policeman William S. Tribble, of 7 Porter place, East Atlanta. She was in the first grade at Faith school.

A few days before school closed for the year, on the first Friday in June, she was given some colored crayons by her parent.

Mary had never seen a colored crayon before. She fingered the sticks of blue and green and yellow that looked so much like the candy one gets at the corner grocery, and decided to try one.

TEETH MARKS ON CRAYONS.

Her father has the box of wax crayons now which his daughter was drawing with. Pieces are broken off, the marks of small teeth are plainly discernible on some of them. The sticks of yellow, green and red are minus both ends where they have been bitten off.

The poison did not take effect until several days later. On Friday, the last day of the session, Mary fell sick. She complained of indigestion, and later became unconscious.

Day after day she has lain in a stupor at the Tribble home. She can move no portion of her body, her face is twisted with pain, her right side is entirely dead of all feeling, yet still she lives on.

SHE MAY GET WELL.

Two physicians are in constant attendance upon her. They declare that they can assign no other reason for the illness than the supposed poison in the crayons.

Dr. R. E. Stone, of 294 South Boulevard, says that there is a small chance that little Mary will recover. He believes, that the longer she lives, the brighter the hope is.

Although no definite analysis has been made, he says that the poison is probably some analine coloring which gradually may work out of her system.

The one fear which the parents of the little girl have is that she will grow too weak to recover. She has not been able to take any solid nourishment. Her only food during the whole of the two weeks has been the whites of eggs, and this had to be injected down her throat.

MARTIN TO LOSE PLACE IN CUSTOMS SERVICE

Reorganization of Serivce to End Political Squabble for Jacksonville Place

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—The reorganization of the customs service by the treasury department will result in the retirement of John W. Martin as collector of customs at Jacksonville, Florida.

Martin was recently appointed to this position, vice W. B. Lucas, resigned, with the written understanding that he would voluntarily resign when the reorganization of the service becomes effective July 1.

He was appointed on the joint recommendation of Senators Fletcher and Bryan, of Florida. The understanding at the time, in view of the fact that the reorganization would consolidate all of the Florida ports under the control of a single collector, this office should be given to a Tampa man.

This was the desire of both of the Florida senators, and that it met with the approval of Martin was shown by the readiness with which he signed an agreement to retire when the reorganization became effective.

After getting his commission, which expires at the pleasure of the president, Martin wrote to Senator Fletcher withdrawing his written agreement to retire voluntarily upon the reorganization of the service. He wrote also to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo withdrawing the conditional resignation he filed at the time of his appointment.

It was learned today that except for the earnest appeal of Senator Fletcher, Martin's resignation would have been accepted today by Secretary McAdoo. The senator succeeded, however, in having him retained until July 1, when he will retire.

The collectorship for the entire state of Florida will be given to a Tampa man, to be selected by Senators Fletcher and Bryan, who are in entire agreement concerning the matter.

"Mr. Martin accepted the appointment with the understanding that he would resign upon the reorganization of the custom service and the consolidation of the several Florida districts," said Senator Fletcher today. "He understood, as did Secretary McAdoo, that Senator Bryan and I desired to give the office to a Tampa man."

This increase has amounted during the last decade to 440 per cent, whereas the entire world growth of machinery export has been only 173 per cent. The machinery shipped from America in 1902 amounted to only $5,000,000. Last year it had jumped to $27,000,000.

Must Have a Ticket To Hear Wilson Read His Message Monday

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Elaborate preparations are being made to prevent on Monday when President Wilson delivers his currency message to congress the push and crowding of corridors of the capitol that marked the reading of a previous message in which the president shattered a precedent.

The order has gone out that each senator and representative will have one ticket to the gallery and no more. It will be a case of "no ticket no seat."

It is expected that several members of the cabinet will be on the floor of the house to hear the president address congress and it is almost certain that the diplomatic gallery will be crowded as it was on the previous occasion.

The coroner's jury which has been investigating the affair has ordered the woman's body to be exhumed for further examination.

Mrs. Newsome was the mother of five children. She was highly esteemed and ther is considerable feeling against Newsome.

POWER COMPANY SUIT TO GO TO HIGHEST COURT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHARLESTON, June 21.—Whatever may be the decision of Judge Smith of the United States district court in the case which has been brought against the Georgia-Carolina Power company by owners of lands in Edgefield county, at the hearing of the suit on July 7 for a permanent injunction, restraining the proposed condemnation of forty-odd acres of land, the case will not stop here. The hearing has been set for an early date that it may go to higher courts. It is said that about three million dollars is involved in the suit and nothing short of a decision by the highest court will settle the case.

COMMERCE COMMISSION PROBES EASTERN ROADS

Wants to Know Why Fifty-Two Roads Wish to Increase Freight Rates

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—On its own initiative the interstate commerce commission today began an inquiry into the application of the fifty-two eastern railroads for increased freight rates.

The commission denied the application of the roads to re-open the old "advance rate case," of two years ago. Hearings for railroads and shippers will begin this fall.

In its order the commission directed that the inquiry should cover these two points: Do the rates of transportation now imposed by common carriers in official classification territory yield an adequate net return; and "if not, what plan shall be adopted to increase such transportation charges?"

Sight of Victim of Wreck Causes Old Engineer to Quit

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Charles J. Doherty, engineer of the locomotive which crashed into the Pullman car Skylark at Sanford a week ago, made a pathetic statement yesterday about his feelings regarding the wreck, according to special dispatches from Stamford.

"I am through," was one of Dougherty's declarations. "I wouldn't run an engine again if you put a hundred-dollar bill in my hand every time I got near the cab.

"Every night when I go to bed," he continued, "I feel as if someone was hitting me with a hammer from the inside. The poor gray-haired woman I saw at the wreck—I see her all the time. I saw her in the wreck when I got down from the engine, and it seemed as if everything began to go around. I couldn't stand it, and someone led me away. I haven't a cent in the world, but I'll find something else to do, and work to forget railroading."

MILLIONAIRE GIVES FREE CIRCUS TO POOR

Edward Tilden Pays $10,000 to Send Circus to Village Where He Was Reared

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 21.—Edward Tilden, millionaire packer, will produce a circus today for "all the children within walking or riding distance" of the Tilden estate at Lake Delavan, Wis. That is the way the advertisements, which have appeared in the newspapers near Delavan, have read, and upwards of 2,000 children are expected.

The entertainment, which will cost $10,000, has been planned for twenty-five years by the host. It has grown out of a painfully vivid recollection of a circus that had come to town and gone away again without his getting inside the tent. It was fresh in his mind when he left Delavan a quarter of a century ago, to come to Chicago to "make his fortune."

At the train Edward Tilden told friends: "I'm coming back some day and buy the town and give every one a good time and let every boy here go to a circus."

A special carload of entertainers left Chicago for Delavan this morning. A dog and pony show and a band of forty pieces left last night. The children also will see a real aeroplane flight, and they are to have automobile rides and a big dinner.

LAW MAY KEEP COUNTY FROM GIVING TO FUND

Amount Has Now Reached Nearly $1,100, and More Is Expected

Whether the board of county commissioners will follow the recommendation of the grand jury and appropriate a substantial sum for the bereaved family of the late Court Deputy Dave Yancey, has not yet been determined.

Shelby Smith, chairman of the board says that although the commissioners favor such action, the laws governing the distribution of the county funds may prevent their use for such a purpose.

The public subscriptions for the family are still coming in. At the sheriff's office it was announced Saturday morning that $500 already had been deposited in the bank. It is believed that this amount will be more than doubled when added to the subscriptions received in the local newspaper offices. A rough estimate the sum total now received at all places for the family is about $1,050.

The Owls' club will have a benefit dance at the club rooms next Friday night to raise more funds for the family.

Several subscriptions not heretofore acknowledged are as follows:

VETERINARY COLLEGE TO MEET NEED, HE SAYS

Canadian Here to Establish State's First School for "Vets"

Dr. J. A. McLeay, of Toronto, Canada, and one of the leading veterinary surgeons of the country, is now at the Georgian Terrace. He is surprised, he declares, by the lack of veterinary colleges in the south.

"There is not one veterinary college in Georgia," said the eminent specialist. "In Canada there is a veterinary surgeon at every crossing, and here in the south animals are far more valuable than they are in Canada."

Dr. McLeay is one of the leaders in the movement to establish the Southern Veterinary college in Atlanta. It will be situated somewhere on the big stock tracts of the city, and will be under the government's supervision.

The institution has been indorsed by the leading educators of the south, and sufficient funds have been raised so that a successful opening of the summer session is assured for July 15.

"The demand for veterinary surgeons is great, and there are not enough men to fill the demand," said the surgeon. "The income, too, of a veterinary surgeon far exceeds that of many other professions."

A WORKER APPRECIATES THIS

Wm. Morris, a resident of Florence, Oregon, says: "For the last fourteen years my kidneys and bladder incapacitated me for all work. About eight months ago I began using Foley Kidney Pills, and they have done what other medicines failed to do, and now I am doing and feeling fine, I heartily recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Foley Kidney Pills do not contain habit forming drugs and are tonic in acting, quick in results. They will help any case of kidney trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

PILGRIMS' CLASS WILL CAMP EVERY SUMMER

At the semi-annual business meeting of the Pilgrim class of Central Congregational church, held last evening, George M. Normandy was elected president; Philip P. Shaw, vice president; O. M. Fuller, secretary, and H. D. Barber, treasurer.

After reviewing the work of the past six months the following program was outlined for the summer:

Sunday services will be continued at the convict camp; substantial benevolent work will be carried on; the baseball team, now playing in the Sunday School league, will be ably supported; the chorus will furnish music at the church services from time to time; a systematic canvass will be made for new members.

Of chief interest to the Pilgrims at this time is the summer camp which they have decided to establish at some nearby point, probably Lakewood. This camp is to be a permanent institution, be free to all Pilgrims. The members is being secured through the generosity of a friend of Mrs. George L. Hanscom, teacher of the class, and the camp will be free to all Pilgrims. The members will continue their regular occupations, going to and from the camp morning and evening. In this way an outing will be afforded those unable to take an extended vacation trip.

WAR ENGRAVING GIVEN TO BROWN CAMP, U. C. V.

A fine engraving of General Robert E. Lee, General Stonewall Jackson and General Stewart in action during the battle of Fredericksburg was presented recently to W. P. Archer, adjutant of Joseph E. Brown camp, No. 1776, U. C. V., by G. H. W. Hammond, of the Hammond Sign company.

Mr. Hammond says that the picture had been in his home for fifteen years, and he felt that it would be used to better advantage by transferring it to some Confederate camp.

The picture shows the three great commanders riding full tilt down the line on the morning of the famous battle.

Piedmont Lake Water Is Exactly the Same As Water You Drink

J. O. Cochran, president of the city park board, is incensed over reports that the water in Piedmont park lake is polluted with sewage and, therefore, dangerous to bathe in.

The water, as he says, is the same as the water the people of Atlanta drink. It comes from the city waterworks, just as the drinking water comes from there. One million gallons of fresh water once a week and reports to W. twenty-four hours. During the day, while the bathing is on, 500,000 gallons of fresh water go into the wading enclosure through the special pipe system installed for that purpose. During the night, 500,000 gallons of fresh water go into the head of the lake, by the rest house. This means that the water in the lake is constantly in circulation.

Moreover, there is not a gallon of water that goes into the lake from any other source except the city waterworks. If there is any odor to be noticed by the bathers, it comes from the open trunk sewer which passes some distance to the east of the park. The odor cannot and does not come from the water in the lake. The sewer now is being enclosed, so that if it was not closed it never could pollute the water in the lake, because there is no connection between the sewer and the lake.

Probably no other public bathing place in the country, as large as Piedmont park, can boast of such pure water. Atlanta city water has been analyzed by chemists over and over again, and their verdict is always the same—"absolutely pure." The state board of health regularly analyzes the water once a wek and reports to W. Zode Smith, general manager of the waterworks. The United States government in the last few weeks made the most thorough and painstaking test and analysis of Atlanta city water, with the result that the wells which now supply Fort McPherson are to be abandoned, and in the future the fort will be supplied from a city main.

ATLANTIAN TO ADDRESS ALIENISTS AT CHICAGO

Dr. J. Cheston King, of Atlanta, will represent the south at the meeting of alienists and neurologists in Chicago on June 23.

The Chicago Medical society has invited specialists from all of the United States for discussion of mental diseases in their various forms. Dr. King has been asked to address the meeting on "The Causes of Acquired Insanity."

It is said to be probable that at this convention a definite plan may be formulated to be recommended to the several state legislatures for the prevention of insanity and various forms of delinquency.

TAMPING IRON DRIVEN IN CHEEK; WANTS $15,000

Asserting that a tamping iron was driven into his right cheek by the unexpected explosion of dynamite being placed for a blast, George M. Ash, a laborer, has brought suit for $15,000 damages against the Windsor Lumber company.

Ash told the court that he was employed by the lumber company on Jack river in Fannin county, and was instructed by the foreman to tamp in a charge of dynamite for blasting purposes. The explosive, he said, was old and imperfect, for the nitro had leaked from the silica, making it extremely susceptible to a jar.

FORECASTER PREDICTS FINE DAY FOR SUNDAY

There is no prospect of any change in the present weather conditions either Saturday or Sunday, according to the forecast Saturday morning.

Sunday should be clear and warm as a normal June day, says Weather Forecaster Von Hermann. It should not go above 90, which was the maximum temperature of Friday and which he predicted would be the highest for Saturday.

It was 72 at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, and it went as low as 70 during the early morning hours.

LOCKER CLUBS WERE VISITED BY POLICE

In accordance with the order issued by Chief Beavers, Friday, plain clothes officers were on the job, Friday night, strolling through Atlanta's locker clubs in an effort to detect the alleged cases of drunken women and boys which Chief Beavers declared have been reported to him.

Nearly every locker club in Atlanta, it is said, was visited at some time during the evening, but no one was arrested and no cases have been made as yet.

COMMISSIONERS APPROVE ORDER AGAINST LOAFERS

Police Commissioners A. R. King and B. Lee Smith, made talks to the policemen of the day watch just before they went on duty Saturday morning, in which they endorsed the order of Chief Beavers in regard to ridding the town of loafers.

Both commissioners commended the chief for taking that action, saying that Atlanta can be freed of its loafing population. They urged the police to make every effort to clean the loafers and loiterers out of the town.

TECH NEEDS MORE MONEY TO KEEP UP EFFICIENCY

Present Standard Can't Be Maintained Otherwise—Trustees Again Urge Increases

Increased appropriations to the maintenance fund of the Georgia School of Technology are urged in the report of the board of trustees of that institution, which was filed with Governor Brown Friday afternoon by Chairman N. E. Harris, of Macon.

The report of Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of the school, also stresses the need of larger appropriations. It is pointed out that the present standard of efficiency cannot be maintained on present appropriations, to say nothing of the inability of the school to meet the fast increasing demands which are made upon it by the constantly growing number of boys who are seeking the advantages offered by it.

Dr. Matheson calls attention to the fact that certain salary increases for members of the faculty, authorized last year, have not yet been allowed, because of the insufficient appropriations.

Two of the school's needs, mentioned in the report of the board of trustees, are more land for campus purposes and an appropriation of $30,000 for a power station. This appropriation is required in order to make available a gift of $100,000 which has been offered by northern friends of the school.

Last year the school received from all sources $131,326.41, and its expenditures up to June 1 aggregated $126,-231.48. The difference in the two amounts will hardly be sufficient to run the school through the month of June.

APPLE EXHIBIT MAY BE INCLUDED IN CORN SHOW

Numerous letters received by the chamber of commerce indicate a strong desire for an apple exhibit along with the annual corn show at the state house, and it is possible that some action will be taken in the premises within a few days.

The suggestion came first from H. B. Wey, chairman of the committee on horticulture, and has met with general approval. The chamber of commerce is in receipt of numbers of communications from all parts of the state, urging the apple feature and pledging support and co-operation to the enterprise.

No announcement has been made yet as to what will be done regarding having the apple industry represented in the corn show, but the matter will be settled soon.

Pretty Operator is Wooed and Won Over The Telephone Wire

For twenty-four months Miss Clyde Brown, an operator for the Atlanta Telephone company, and P. S. Anderson, traffic clerk in the office of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, held nightly conversations over the telephone.

Until a few weeks ago they never had seen each other; yet through the medium of the receiver and the mouthpiece they had first become friends and later learned to love.

It all began two years ago when a train on the N., C. & St. L. plunged over a ten-foot embankment many miles away from Atlanta and the traffic clerk in the local office rushed to the phone to send forth emergency calls all over the state.

The operator on the other end of the wire was very helpful. She aided him tremendously. So the night following he rang her up and thanked her to the accompaniment of a pretty acknowledgment. This call was followed by many others. Each midnight the girl in the exchange would sit and talk over the phone to a man she had never seen, learning to look forward to the conversations and to love the conversationalist.

Two months ago they were introduced. The girl and the boy found that each had fulfilled the promise of the other's telephone voice. They were married Friday afternoon in Justice Girardeau's court ,and will make their home in the future at 6 West Linden street.

Each declares that they are perfectly happy, save for a persistent wrish that Justice Girardeau had used the telephone to pronounce them man and wife.

GEORGIA CRUSHERS GO TO CHICAGO MEETING

The Georgia delegation to the annual convention of the Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association left Saturday afternoon for Chicago, where the organization will meet for a three-days' session beginning Monday, June 23.

The party which left Atlanta was headed by F. D. McCarley, vice president of the Cottonseed Crushers' association of Georgia. E. P. McBurney, former president of the association, and T. C. Law, official chemist, left early in the week to attend the meeting of the rules committee, which is in session in Chicago Saturday.

T. W. Ashcraft, of Florence, is president of the interstate association, and the Georgia delegation is anxious that this section be unusually well represented at the meeting.

Many of the delegates will make a tour of the Great Lakes before returning to Georgia.

Among those who left with the party are A. P. Cain, W. D. Nash, W. H. Schroeder, W. M. Hutchinson, R. W. Malone, H. E. Watkins, J. A. Taylor, J. H. Hunter and W. W. Martin, of Atlanta; R. G. Riley, of Albany; H. C. Brown, of Augusta; B. J. Johnson, of McDuffie; E. F. Johnson, of Thompson; W. J. Murphey, of Newnan, and Morelan Zellers, of Grantville.

GUARDSMEN LEAVE FOR CAMP ON TYBEE ISLAND

Special From Atlanta Friday Night Carried Cavalry Organizations to Savannah

The Governor's Horse Guard, of Atlanta; the Candler Horse Guard, of Gainesville, and the headquarters of the Second squadron of cavalry left the city Friday night for St. Simons Island, where the annual encampment will take place. The Gainesville troop arrived in the afternoon and joined the special from Atlanta. Only day coaches are provided by the state for transportation of troops, but members of the Governor's Horse Guard chartered a Pullman for themselves.

According to schedule the special train reached Brunswick Saturday morning at 5 o'clock and the entire squadron boarded special steamers for the island, where camp was to be pitched.

Major J. O. Seamans, of Atlanta, is in charge of the Second squadron and also of Troop K, of Augusta; Troop F, of Gainesville, and Troop B, of McIntosh, Liberty coutty.

Lieutenant Arthur McCollum, of Atlanta, is adjutant of the Second squadron, and the quartermaster department is being looked after by Lieutenant Fay Wilson, also of Atlanta. Lieutenant A. McD. Wilson, Jr., is in charge of the rifle practice, and Captain B. Benjamin Pearce is the chief sanitary officer and chief surgeon of the hospital corps. Both are of Atlanta.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING URGED FOR NEGROES

Industrial training for the colored people was urged by L. B. Thompson in an address Friday evening before the Georgia Association of Teachers in Colored Schools.

"Trades unions have put the apprentice system out of business, and industrial schools will have to do that work," said he.

"Georgia should be more progressive in offering to the colored people opportunities for an industrial education," he argued.

IN LOCAL THEATERS

(Criticisms of ladies' performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

FORSYTH.—Vaudeville.
GRAND.—"Quo Vadis," in pictures.
BIJOU.—Tabloid Musical Comedy.

The vaudeville performers who have made this week's Forsyth attraction a tonic for hot weather ills will complete their engagements Saturday at matinee and night performances.

Coming for next week is a bill that gives promise of being better than the average of summer vaudeville, for there are acts of important standing in the profession. Gertrude Vanderbilt and George Moore will be in headline honors, presenting a singing and dancing novelty that will surely be an attractive feature.

"Ideal," the swimming and diving star, comes as a special feature to give an exhibition of diving and swimming that will be appreciated at this time, and the Six Musical Cuttys, in an instrumental and vocal musical novelty, will have a real value.

By arrangement with Jake Wells, "Quo Vadis" will remain at the Grand another week, to accommodate thousands of people who have not been able to gain admission to the big theatre during the last half of the week, or since the true value of the pictures gained strength.

In advance it was announced that "Quo Vadis" was the greatest thing of the sort in the world. Many people took that to be the usual 'press agent" talk, but after the Grand had been packed at several performances and Atlanta's best people commenced to advise friends to see the production, it was evidenced that a week in Atlanta would not take care of all the people; wherefore the arrangement to continue the engagement for an additional week.

There will be daily matinee and evening performances.

The four performances today will bring to a close the engagement of "The Duke of Durham" at the Bijou and despite the warm weather and the comfort attractions the popular theatre has drawn large audiences that have given their approval to the attraction.

Next week will see another splendid attraction in the engagement of "The Merry Whirl," another musical comedy tabloid with twenty funmakers, vaudeville artists and chorus of young and pretty girls. Three comedians, Sol Carter, Lew Miller and Harry Loader will furnish the fun and judging from the complimentary notices given these three they will give a good account of themselves. Miss Majorie Lake, the lady with the phenomenal voice will make many friends during the week. Miss Lake is the rare possessor of a baritone voice that makes many wonder whether she is not really a man masquerading as a woman.

Police Uniforms Inspected

The new uniforms of the local police force went through a rigid inspection, Saturday morning by Chief of Police Beavers. The members of the morning watch, under command of Captain Mayo, and the members of the day watch, commanded by Captain Poole, were examined closely, but no "misfits" were found.

UNIQUE DISCOVERY MAKES A FORTUNE

The wonderful recipe which was discovered almost by accident after experimenting with a digestive vegetable recommended by a celebrated London doctor has brought for a young English singer (who had suffered for years with indigestion) a fortune, and has led to carloads of this wonderful article being brought before the American public. Every housewife in England has welcomed this wonderful Waw-Waw into her household because it added a delight to ner table when used in cooking, and with soups, salads, hot and cold meats and fish, but at the same time it has been a marvelous digestive effect. Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American word for vegetable) is a purely vegetable sauce.

Warning to Beer Drinkers

Read every word in this opinion. Remember it is not our statement, but the deliberate opinion of a great scientist working for perfection in beer.

Pure beer is food and tonic.

G. Beck (Bierbrauer, 1881, No. 8) finds that

"beer in light bottles deteriorates more quickly than beer in dark bottles when exposed to the direct sunlight."

His tests were continued for three weeks and proved that beer in light bottles had acquired a very disagreeable, nasty taste and flavor and was unfit for consumption.

The Brown Bottle with Schlitz is not a fad. Its use is based on scientific principles.

We have adopted every idea, every invention, every innovation that could make for purity.

LOWER CABLES AND BEAR PRESSURE CAUSE DECLINE

Market in New York Closed 12 to 21 Points Down From the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 1 to 5 points under realizing for over the week-end and in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables. Favorable weekly crop reviews seemed to encourage some scattered selling for a reaction also, and the market eased off to a net loss of about 5 to 13 points right after the call. A renewed demand from July and new crop shorts caused the decline, however, and, while somewhat unsettled, the market rallied a point or two from the early low.

The feature of the session was the selling of about 40,000 bales mostly October by Riordan, (undoubtedly for Pell & Co., taking profits. There was also a lot of scattered selling. Leading buyers were Schill, 15,000 on the opening, said to be for Memphis. Mohr Hansman, the Gates and several local houses. Hutton, 10,000 and smaller amounts by Freeman, Cone and Dick Eros. July new crop shorts claimed

SLAUGHTER PEN CLEAN-UP BEGUN BY STATE OFFICERS

Extreme Conditions of Filth in Griffin Place, Reported. Conner Orders Hearing

A report charging filthy and unsanitary conditions in a large slaughtering house on the outskirts of the city of Griffin has been filed with State Veterinarian Peter F. Bahnsen by his assistant H. C. Hutchens, who with Pure Food Inspector P. A. Methvin, is making an investigation of the slaughter houses and meat markets of the state.

As a result of the sickening and loathsome conditions alleged to exist in the Griffin slaughter house, Agricultural Commissioner J. J. Conner will hold a hearing to which will be summoned the offending butchers. If at this hearing the commissioner finds that the pure food laws of the state are being violated he will recommend prosecutions in the courts.

The slaughter house against which criticism is directed is said to kill and prepare a large portion of the beef and meat used by the citizens of Griffin. This place is said to be so foul that its odors are offensive for a distance of 500 yards. Blood and offal are alleged to cover the floors to a depth of about an inch, and the walls are said to be smeared with this filth. Just outside the back door, according to the report, is a decaying pile of blood and offal weighing at least two tons, which is swarmed over by flies and teeming with maggots.

No effort, it is said, is made to keep the slaughter house clean. There has been no attempt to provide drainage, and the only water supply, it is pointed out, is a shallow well filled with dirty and unwholesome water.

I took Foley Kidney Pills and they did the work and I am now entirely rid of kidney trouble. My father-in-law, now past 93 years, has taken them and they have added years to his life." TWO MOTORCYCLISTS THROWN FROM WHEEL

In order to avoid a collision with an incoming trolley car, M. I. Seals was forced to steer the motorcycle which he was riding with his sister, Miss Bertha Seals, into an obstruction at the corner of Peachtree and Sixth streets, Friday night. They were thrown to the pavement and were injured painfully.

It was found after they had been taken to the Grady hospital that their wounds were not serious, and they were allowed to go to their home, 460 Capitol avenue.

Witnesses say that Seals was riding out Peachtree from uptown at a lively speed and was hemmed in at the intersection of Sixth street by an automobile and a trolley car. Then, in order to save himself and his sister, Seals directed his wheel to the curb. The motorcycle climbed the curbing, crossed the sidewalk and crashed into an obstruction, throwing the two riders. The motorcycle was damaged badly.

The accident was witnessed by a number of people.

STATE'S LARGEST CLASS TO JOIN CATHOLIC ORDER

The Knights of Columbus of Atlanta are making special preparations for ceremonies on Sunday, June 29, when the largest class on record in this state will be initiated into the first, second and third degrees of the order.

The initiation ceremonies will commence at the clubhouse at 18 East Pine street at 9 a. m., and will conclude with a banquet at the Piedmont hotel in the evening. Dr. J. H. Hines, grand knight of Atlanta, will confer the first and second degrees, and the third degree rites will be in charge of M. C. Carroll, district deputy.

The Atlanta lodge has a special dispensation to confer the three degrees at the same time and the ceremonies next Sunday will attract knights from many eastern cities to Atlanta.

LOST FOOT IN ACCIDENT; WANTS $40,000 DAMAGES

A. L. Kirbo, a railroad switchman, has asked city court to award him a $40,000 damage judgment against the Southern railroad for the loss of one foot. Kirbo, in the suit filed with the court, asserted that his left foot was crushed so that amputation was necessary.

According to the allegations in the petition, the accident occurred in the north Inman Yards. Kirbo told the court that he was sent to a point in the yards where the light was insufficient and was caught between two moving cars.

The Rev. John J. Casserly will celebrate his first mass at the Sacred Heart church Sunday, June 22, 1913, at 10 o'clock, and after the mass will give his blessing. The sermon will be preached by Father McGrath.

Rev. John J. Casserly is a native of Ireland, and comes here from the diocese of Galveston, where he was ordained in June, 1912. He is detailed to the Sacred Heart church, Houston, Tex., and taught in the Marist college in Atlanta in 1908 and 1909.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER SUE CITY FOR $7,500

Two suits aggregating $7,500 have been filed against the city for injuries said to have been suffered by Miss Louise Reynolds, sixteen years old, who fell through an open manhole at Lee street and Oglethorpe avenue on April 1. Mrs. Shirley Reynolds, mother of the girl, asked the court for $2,500 for herself and $5,000 for the child.

The suits set forth the contention that Miss Reynolds was injured permanently by the fall, her leg bruised, back wrenched, and nervous system shattered.

BAND OF YEGGS WORK IN AUGUSTA TERRITORY

Postoffice inspectors think there is a band of yeggs working on the postoffices around Augusta. Several robberies have occurred in that territory of late.

The latest report is from Camak, a station about forty miles from Augusta in the Georgia railroad. The postoffice there was robbed last night, but the yeggs got only $1 in money and a few stamps, the postmaster having removed the rest of his cash and stamps.

Frank Willis, Champion Speller of Washington

WASHINGTON.—Frank B. Willis, ex-schoolmaster, is the champion speller of Washington. Senators, correspondents, cabinet officers, and other officials fell before him when he appeared at the "spellin' bee" of the National Press club.

Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington, the only member of the upper branch of congress who puts himself down in the directory as a Progressive, stood to the last, or almost the last, with the Ohio representative. Then the secretary of agriculture, the former president of a college, who acted as spelling master, put to him a hard word. He stumbled.

"It's easy," said the Ohio man. "It's h-y-d-r-o-s-c-o-p-h-o-b-i-a."

The charge has recently been made in New York that the school teachers there—there are some 15,000 of them—can't spell. Willis has proved it's different in Ohio.

ATLANTA MAN IS VICTIM OF BINGHAMTON THUGS

Thomas Oglesby, Said to Be From This City, Is Beaten and Robbed

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 21.—Thomas Oglesby, of Atlanta, Ga., was the victim of thugs here last night.

Early this morning Oglesby was found beside the railroad tracks in the western part of the city, partly disrobed, and in a semi-conscious condition, suffering from a deep scalp wound.

He had been attacked by the thugs, who, after black-jacking him and taking his money and valuables, proceeded to relieve him of his clothing. He was removed to the emergency hospital and will recover. A police search has been commenced for his assailants.

The name of Thomas Oglesby does not appear in the city directory of Atlanta, and inquiries among local residents of the same name have resulted in no information about him. He does not appear to be known here.

CORDELE MAN MAY BE GIVEN CARNEGIE MEDAL

CORDELE, Ga., June 21.—For saving Miss Madeline Owen, of Vienna, from drowning in the Flint river, J. H. Smith, of this city, may be rewarded with a hero's medal.

A representative of Mr. Andrew Carnegie has been in the city several days investigating Mr. Smith's act of heroism, and it is understood that he has recommended that the young man be awarded the medal.

Mr. Smith and Miss Owen were the members of a picnic party last summer and while the young lady was fishing she became overbalanced and fell into the river at a point where the water was the deepest. Becoming entangled in her clothing she was in danger of drowning, when the young man threw of his coat and jumping into the river brought her to safety.

STATE ROAD'S INCOME $573,613 LAST YEAR

That Plus Rental Makes Nearly $1,000,000 Earned, Value Fixed Thereby

Saturday morning the lessors of the Western and Atlantic railroad (state road) made its income tax returns to Comptroller General W. A. Wright. The report filed covers the year ending May 1, 1913, and shows that the net income of the Western and Atlantic over and above rental expenses, operating expenses and taxes, was $573,613.61.

Under the lease contract, the state gets a monthly rental of $35,001 and in addition it receives 1-2 of 1 per cent of the road's net income as taxes. This year the state gets an income tax of $2,868.07, a little less than was obtained last year.

If the $420,012 yearly rental is added to the $573,613.61, it would show a net income to the road of $993,625.61, practically $1,000,000 a year. This would be approximately 5 per cent on $20,000,000 or 4 per cent on $10,000,000. The state's indebtedness is guaranteed by the Western and Atlantic property, and inasmuch as the bonded debt amounts to but about $6,000,000, it is fully and amply secured.

RECOMMENDS PURCHASE BY WEIGHT, NOT MEASURE

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Purchase of supplies by weight instead of by the bushel has been recommended to the commissioners of the District of Columbia by W. C. Haskell, superintendent of weights and measures, as being more just to householders in the matter of food products.

The proposed reform is of more than local importance for the reason that it probably would affect many states which ship supplies to Washington. Superintendent Haskell declared that for instance, turnips, sold by the bushel, show variation from 42 to 60 pounds a bushel, according to the state in which they are crated, and similarly coarse salt ranges from 50 to 85 pounds, dried peaches from 28 to 40 pounds, and other commodities disclose similar striking variations.

If the reform is adopted here a number of productive communities will be compelled to observe them and this observance, it is believed, will compel other cities to follow the example of the national capitol. The authorities believed that a considerable reduction in the high cost of living can be realized through the change.

CRISP COUNTY FARMER HAS FINE WHEAT RECORD

CORDELE, Ga., June 21.—Mr. W. R. Harris is the record wheat grower of Crisp county. He has just finished threshing the wheat grown on a two and one-half acre spot on his farm about ten miles northeast of the city, and 101 bushels, after perhaps ten more bushels or more was wasted in threshing, was the yield. Several other farmers have done almost as well.

Mr. Harris can supply his family and all the croppers on his farm with bread until another crop can be produced.

This year has been quite favorable to wheat growing and not only have the yields been good, but more farmers than usual have grown wheat this year.

GIVEN VACATION FOR KEEPING HIS PAROLE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 21.—Walter Soaker's promptness in returning to the penitentiary after completing a ten days' parole caused Governor O'Neal to release him for thirty days yesterday so he could visit his mother, who is seriously ill. Soaker was paroled recently and at the expiration of the time he knocked on the door of the penitentiary for admittance.

The convict was sent to the penitentiary two years for shooting at a street car conductor in Montgomery.

BIBB JURY BEGS NEW COURT HOUSE FIFTH TIME

MACON, Ga., June 21.—For the fifth time in two years, the grand jury has demanded that Bibb county have a new court house. In their closing session the following presentment was returned with a number of indictments:

"The county court house is inadequate from every point of view for the need of this county. In our opinion the dignity of this great county demands a new and modern structure for its principal building."

200 NEW LAWS GO INTO EFFECT IN KANSAS

(By Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, June 21.—Nearly 200 laws passed by the last legislature will become effective in Missouri on Monday. Probably the one of greatest interest is the Orr anti-trust law regulating fire insurance companies.

It is this bill that caused more than 150 insurance companies to suspend writing insurance business throughout the state. It is expected that lawyers next week will attack the Orr bill in the supreme court in an effort to have it declared unconstitutional.

Painting Bought for Fifty-Six Cents May Be Worth $200,000

(By Associated Press.)

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, June 21.—A painting which recently sold for 56 cents in on its way to the national gallery of London from Melbourne, Australia, today, for confirmation of the owner's belief that it is worth $200,000 or more. Experts in Melbourne, says a cablegram from there, have declared it a genuine Rubens.

The canvas, known as "Thisby and Pyramus," now is the property of Dr. A. J. Summers, of Australia, who purchased it from a Melbourne vender recently for $250. The vender said he had paid 56 cents for it.

"SOCIAL SURVEY" OVER; WHAT WILL REPORT BE?

Russell Sage Foundation Experts Have Completed Preliminary Investigation

The preliminary "social survey" of Atlanta has been completed and the experts from the Russell Sage Foundation have gone back to New York City to assimilate the facts, figures, and general information the basis of which was gathered here.

Their report will be mailed directly to the chamber of commerce upon its completion.

The last of the experts left the city Saturday. Shelby M. Harrison, director of the work, returned home the early part of the week. Zenas L. Potter took his departure Friday night and Franz Schneider, Jr., the last to leave, departed Saturday afternoon.

The work has been done in a thorough manner. A diagnosis of practically every phase of life in Atlanta has been made, but the investigations have been conducted so quietly that few knew what was going on. The fact remains, however, that Atlanta has been most completely diagnosed by the critical eye of the experts.

As has been said before, no effort on the part of the diagnosticians has been made to form any conclusions on their research. It has been a search for information, known facts and conditions pure and simple. That was the first step.

Next Monday the information gathered by these three men will be submitted to other experts of the Russell Sage Foundation, who are acquainted with every phase of the work. The report when completed will be the result of this concerted consideration.

The investigation was directed especially toward sanitary conditions, schools and delinquency, the latter especially in reference to crime, the manner of handling criminals, and matters of a like nature.

"LIBERTY BELLES" CALL ON PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Christened the "Liberty Belles" when they left the Pacific coast, a party of school teachers from California, Washington and Oregon are here "doing" the national capital, and the White House police are on the alert.

Recognizing in President Wilson a former member of their profession, they decided early to storm the White House and see him, despite cabinet officers or other state callers.

Congressional members from the three states, however, assured the visitors that militancy was not necessary, and promised to arrange a reception for them.

The teachers are returning home from Philadelphia, whither they went to urge the appearance of the Liberty bell at the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915.

CONVICTED VIOLATOR OF PROHI LAW AGAIN HELD

MACON, Ga., June 21.—Patrick Cronin, who was only a week ago convicted in the city court for violating the state prohibition law and fined $500, has again been indicted by the grand jury. Two indictments were returned this time, one for selling beer without license and the other for violating the state prohibition act. Following the return of the indictments, the sheriff raided his club room and seized a quantity of whisky which will be used as evidence against him. He operates a saloon and club on Broadway.

City council revoked his beer license last Tuesday night, but his attorney secured a temporary restraining order from Judge Mathews, and the saloon is again in operation.

AUTO DRIVER HELD FOR PROBE OF GIRL'S DEATH

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 21.—Last night the body of Miss Mary Moore, a stenographer, who was run down by the automobile of Mr. C. C. Ely and who died of her injuries, was sent to Leeds, Ala., for interment. This was her former home. She leaves several relatives in Macon, where she had lived for a while. Miss Moore's death was a very sad one. She had not been out of the hospital long when she was run down.

The driver of the machine, who became excited when he first struck her, in his excitement run the machine backwards and it passed over her body the second time. He was arraigned in police court this morning and was held for further investigation.

JUDGE NORWOOD LAID TO REST AT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 21.—The funeral of Thomas M. Norwood, former United States senator from Georgia and a man who came within a few convention votes of being governor of the state, was held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church. The services were attended by delegations representing the Savannah Bar association and there was a large number of citizens to do honor to one of the most brilliant men Georgia has ever produced. Judge Norwood died at his country home near Savannah on Thursday night, after he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

ATLANTA LABOR LEADER EXTOLS CORN CLUB WORK

Jesse W. Armistead, Typos' President, Says Welfare Rests on Farmers' Success

The recognition by organized labor of the high value of Boys' Corn club work is set forth in a striking way by Jesse W. Armistead, president of Atlanta Typographical union, No. 48, in a communication to Secretary Walter G. Cooper, of the chamber of commerce.

"Upon the success of the farmer," says Mr. Armistead, "rests to a large extent the whole superstructure of commercial and industrial welfare; and it certainly behooves the commercial interests of the city to foster and encourage a greater efficiency in and diversification of crops, particularly in Georgia.

"Under the organization of the Boys' Corn club much progress has been made, both for the upbuilding and strengthening of food production in Georgia, and in introducing the principle of constructive co-operation along agricultural lines.

"We have a principle that all may agree on, whatever may be our views about the ultimate economic constitution of society. Under any conceivable regime the world's work must be done, and anything we can do toward developing a system that will get it done with the least loss, waste and friction, and with the greatest efficiency and harmony, is in the direction of the commercial and industrial good we all have at heart. And it seems to me that if the system of constructive co-operation as begun by the chamber of comerce in the Boys' Corn club could be extended to all farm products, as well as cattle raising, as proposed by Mr. Manss in his talk at the luncheon Wednesday, Georgia's productiveness and attendant wealth would exceed our most ardent expectations.

"So let your work in the Corn club be a distinct contribution to that end!"

Hens Only Excepted In Atlanta's High Cost of Existence

Chicken meat is the cheapest food product one can live on in Atlanta these days, according to statistics just issued by the bureau of labor at Washington.

While prices are soaring to the skies in most everything else, from sirloin steak to sugar, the price of hens has decreased more in Atlanta this year than in any other city in the United States.

From February, 1912, to February, 1913, the cost of hens fell 19.3 per cent in Atlanta, while in every other town of prominence in the country, save only Dallas, Tex., the cost shot up considerably.

Chicken sandwiches are still 10 cents in local restaurants, the Atlanta housewife is not having chicken patties with any more frequency than before, and the signs in the grocery windows are the same old ones that stood there a year ago.

Yet, if we must believe the labor bureau, hens are thicker than divorces in Atlanta and not half so costly.

What is the reason? Either the farmers are beginning to turn more attention to poultry raising or they are "killing the goose that laid the golden egg."

The latter course seems probable, as the cost of eggs in Atlanta has risen 19.1 per cent in the last year.

Child's Eye Gouged Out By Enraged Pig

WILMINGTON, N. C., June 21.—When a three-year-old son of H. C. Ipock, a farmer near Cove City, N. C., stumbled and fell into a litter of pigs on the premises yesterday, the mother of the pigs savagely attacked the child, lacerating his face terribly, one eye being torn out and the sight of the other impaired. A woman rescued the boy, who was hurried to a hospital at Kinston, where it is stated he will probably recover.

Conference on Procedure

NEW YORK, June 21.—Thomas W. Walsh, the ex-police captain whose confessions led to the conviction for grafting of Inspectors Murthors, Thompson, Hussey and Sweeney, now serving time in the penitentiary, died at his home in Harlem early today.

He had been in poor health for months, and the fear of death was what brought about his confession. He rallied and was able to testify at the graft trials, but never was himself again.

The police have in their possession a number of these fake prescriptions, which the woman duplicated, signature and all, from a prescription that had been given her by the physician.

USED-PIANO SALE

June 30th closes our 47th year in business in Atlanta and it is only fitting that we should commemorate the anniversary in some way, so why not offer the public a large saving in the way of a quick, economical sale

NOW

Our position is a little unique in Georgia. Owing to the fact of our having exclusive agencies of the most celebrated Pianos and Pianolas in the world, many families of modest means get the notion that we do not carry in stock lower price goods, when, in fact, we make a specialty of good pianos at modest prices. Another thing, we are constantly receiving in exchange, pianos of all grades and makes, many of them in excellent condition. These instruments go through our factory department, and when put on our floors for sale they are marked at bargain prices.

Lately we have been receiving a lot of upright Pianos of various makes in exchange for Steinway and Knabe Pianos and for Pianola Pianos---These pianos, as well as the ones returned from rental, we have decided to offer at almost unbelievable prices. They are in our way, our 5th floor is crowded with them, and we had rather sell them now at bargain prices than hold them.

We mention a few below; we have many others. Pianos shipped to any part of the State. Pianos bought now may at any time be exchanged.

Relieving the Income Tax Of an Absurd Provision.

There are cheering indications that the income tax bill will be so amended by the Senate as to exclude that ill considered clause which would require a tenant or lessee to deduct and withhold from his rent payments a sum sufficient to cover the amount of income tax supposed to be due by the property owner. The Journal's Washington correspondent quotes Senator Hoke Smith as saying: "I fully sympathize with the opposition which has developed in Georgia the plan of collecting income tax at its source. One needs only to think upon it casually to realize how unreasonable such a plan would be. I feel sure the Senate will strike it from the bill passed by the House."

It is evident that this bunglesome clause of the measure has bestirred protest the country over and that good citizens, who heartily favor the principle of the income tax but who realize the confusion and the evils which this provision would engender, have appealed to their representatives at Washington. Indeed, it would seem that organized protest were scarcely necessary to convince any Senator who carefully reads the clause in question of the need of cancelling it. As Senator Smith says, "The subject had attracted my attention even before I heard from any Georgians with reference to it." At the same time, the Atlanta Real Estate Board has done well to call timely notice to this matter and other commercial and civic organizations throughout the State and the country should voice their opposition, so that there may be no chance whatsoever of this foolish and mischievous proposition becoming a part of the law.

The method for collecting income tax as prescribed in the House bill would expose landlords to heavy losses from irresponsible tenants who, after withholding from their rent payments the income tax as required, might disappear before the time for official returns arrived. It is evident, furthermore, that it would be unfair and inexpedient for the Government to require private persons to collect a federal tax, especially a tax so involved as this one; yet, under the clause mentioned they are made personally liable for the amount of tax reckoned to be due on another's income. This phase of the subject was cogently discussed in a recent communication to The Journal by Mr. Reuben R. Arnold who said in part:

Under the provisions of this tax, a negro tenant in a one-room house, paying $2 a month rent, would have to pass on the question of how much the income tax is on that sum and deduct it, and the government would have to establish relations with this negro tenant and collect the tax out of him. A negro tenant on a farm could get into a dispute with his landlord as to the value of the crops raised and as to the amount that should be withheld for the income tax and render the collection of the legal rent very difficult.

It ought to be borne in mind that the majority of tenants are not likely to have an income of $3,000 per annum, which is the minimum income taxable under this act. Such tenants have no interest in making a return, and yet such tenant, who is not liable to the tax, who is not interested in the tax, is compelled by the government to practically keep books and remain the custodian of a fund, simply because of the fact that the government is afraid to trust the landlord to make a proper return. Is it not entrusting just as much to the tenant by requiring the tenant to hold the money?

Look what a burden this law puts on the tenant. How does the tenant know that the landlord's net income is over $4,000? How can a tenant figure upon either the gross or the net income of the landlord without making extensive inquiries? If the tenant on a venture holds out the gross percentage of the tax from his rents, this, of course, may not represent the net income of the landlord because his income may be reduced by various expenses against these rents of which the tenant knows little or nothing. It would necessitate in practically every case of tax a proceeding by the landlord against the government to recover back the difference between the tax on his gross and his net income.

In truth, the proposal to collect the income tax at the source of its origin is so inherently absurd and unbusinesslike that it would never stand the test of practical usage. If retained in the bill it would serve only to breed endless confusion and to bring the worthy purposes of the entire measure into disrepute. It is gratifying to hear Senator Smith's prediction that this foolish clause will be stricken out.

It is to be hoped that the currency reform will substitute something for the buffalo nickel.

Both President Wilson and Mayor Woodward will dispense with vacations for the present, but their examples will not have a fatal effect on the man who wants to slip off and go fishing.

Tariff Bill Stronger Than Ever.

The tariff bill which was reported yesterday by the Senate finance committee to a Democratic caucus is an even stronger measure than that which came from the House, stronger, that is to say, from the standpoint of the consumer and the country's common interests. The great majority of the amendments proposed by the committee are for lower duties than those prescribed in the original bill or for the complete removal of duties on certain necessaries of life. At the same time a process of equalization or readjustment has been applied so skillfully that the aggregate effect of the suggested changes will be to yield some five million dollars more revenue than that expected from the House measure.

Especially noteworthy is the committee's recommendation that wheat, pig iron, leather, school books, cattle, sheep and other food animals be put on the free list. These items, like sugar and wool, enter very largely into the cost of living; and since the guiding purpose of Democratic tariff revision is to tax necessaries most lightly and luxuries most heavily, the proposed amendments would seem to be, as a matter of principle, timely and well advised. Certain it is that they will strengthen the bill in popular estimate and will carry into greater detail the party's pledge to thoroughgoing tariff revision.

Such other changes as have been recommended relate for the most part to administrative features and are designed to make the measure more practical. The significant fact is that in no particular has there been an effort on the part of the Democratic members of the committee to swerve from the straight purpose indicated in the House bill, the purpose of readjusting the tariff to the rights and the needs of the people as a whole instead of leaving it, as it long has been, a scheme of Government patronage for a favored few.

To what extent this is true is evidenced by the fact that the committee has persistently refused to take wool off the free list, where it was placed by the House, or to intertere with the plan for an immediate reduction and the ultimate removal of the tariff on sugar. The utmost pressure was brought to bear by the interests that are concerned in these two important items but it was of no avail. When the bill first reached the Senate there were divers predictions that the finance committee would favorably consider, if, indeed, it would not insist upon appreciably high duties on both wool and sugar; and the administration's plan of including these items in the free list was regarded in many quarters as hopeless. Developments, however, took just the opposite turn and the outlook for the enactment of the Underwood bill in strengthened form seems brighter today than at any time since the extra session of Congress convened.

Undoubtedly the wool and sugar program will encounter stubborn opposition from few Democratic senators in the caucus which is now in progress. That opposition, however, has been expected from the outset and has been discounted far in advance. Friends of the measure seem assured that it will emerge from the caucus unimpaired in any of its vital principles or particulars and that at the decisive moment it will have the votes necessary to make it a law.

Indeed, Republican leaders admit that the bill is virtually assured of passage, though they will use every opportunity to oppose it. Every indication points to the enactment of the measure before the summer is much further advanced. There could be no greater tribute to the firm, effective guidance of the administration, no sounder proof of the sincerity of the Democratic congress and no more liberal measure of economic good to the rank and file of the people.

Fight for Primaries in New York.

In the South where Democratic primaries have long been established and where the machinery for nominating public officials is directly in the hands of the voters, it seems singular indeed that the people of any State should have to wage political battle to win so elementary a right. That, however, is the situation in New York today where the Legislature has assembled in an extra session to consider the enactment of a direct primaries bill; and the omens would seem to indicate that the measure has little hope of passage.

Governor Sulzer is earnestly committed to this reform and he has as allies strong men among the progressive element for all parties. But the Legislature appears to be under the combined control of Democrats who are beholden to Boss Murphy and of Republicans who are bound to Boss Barnes, politicians who care nothing for party principles or public rights but only for their own spheres of special interest.

THE PHILIPPINES

IX.—TRADE WITH UNITED STATES.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Although the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill has been the target for many verbal onslaughts, there is one part of that measure about which there has been but one opinion, whether Democrat or Republican. That is the clause which provided for practical free trade between the United States and the Philippines. In four short years the total trade of the islands has nearly doubled because of this clause in the bill and the beneficiaries have been and will continue to be the American merchants and manufacturers.

* * *

It is not generally known in this country that the Philippines maintained a protective tariff against the United States as well as all other countries from 1899 to August, 1909. This was because of the treaty of Paris which stipulated that Spain should have the same commercial rights in the islands that the United States might reserve to herself. One of the first problems which the Americans had to face was whether or not the Philippines should be self-supporting. It was finally decided that the insular government should be conducted without aid from the United States. In order to do this a tariff for revenue became a necessity. If American goods should be admitted free the same privilege would, under the treaty, be enjoyed by Spain. Inasmuch as a large volume of Philippine imports came from Spain, and because of the reasonable supposition that the American acquisition of the islands would draw a large American trade, it was seen that free trade for the United States and Spain by the resultant loss of customs collections would prevent the islands from being self-supporting.

* * *

The decision to make the civil administration of the new dependency independent of Uncle Sam's treasury was due to two reasons. First, in the belief that the Filipinos, since they were to be trained for self-government, should learn to support themselves as rapidly as possible. Second, politics. The Republicans realized that an attempt to care for the insular government out of congressional appropriations would give the Democrats a chance to assail the Philippine policy every time a dollar was asked for. Whatever the cost of the Philippines may be to the United States to date, the maintenance of the government there cannot be included therein.

* * *

Therefore, a tariff for revenue was decided upon and a retarding of American trade in the islands was the result. On paper the United States had a fair show with its European and Asiatic rivals, and might be considered by theorists to have had an advantage for the sentimental reason that the islands belong to the United States. In reality, however, the mother country was at a disadvantage for two reasons.

* * *

In the first place, Spain, Great Britain, Germany and Switzerland controlled the foreign trade of the Philippines long before the Americans ever heard of the islands. All these nations had well established branches there from fifty to two hundred years before Dewey's memorable victory at Manila Bay on May 1, 1898. The other deterrent was the long haul and higher freight rates which the United States had to meet. In other words, the European traders could land goods at Manila via Suez at lower rates than those possible by the American route from the Pacific coast.

* * *

Consequently, American trade did not flourish as it should, even though the islands had been won at a great sacrifice of life and money and had then been bought out of pure philanthropy for $20,000,000. Even though we had opened the islands for ten years, despite our dominating influence over every phase of Philippine affairs, we held but 20 per cent of the import trade of the islands. Great Britain enjoyed 50 per cent. Even Australia outstripped the United States in certain articles. For instance, just prior to the free trade bill, Australia sold $500,000 worth of flour per annum to the Philippines, while the United States, the greatest wheat producer in the world, was able to sell a mere $4,000 worth of flour every year to the Philippines.

* * *

The free trade bill ended all this. The treaty of Paris expired as the Payne-Aldrich bill was in the making and there was nothing to stop the clause in the bill which created the natural and greatly delayed bond of commercial interests between the mother country and her possessions in the Pacific. At about the same time congress passed the Cotton bill which set up within the islands the new tariff wall which all the rest of the world would have to hurdle while American products slipped untaxed through the back door. However, American goods, the raw material of which is of foreign origin, still pay duty. It might be thought as a matter of course Philippine products would be given free entry into the United States. But not so. A limit of 200,000 tons of sugar and 300,000,000 cigarettes and 150,000,000 cigars per annum was imposed. These figures have never been reached, however, so that it is practically reciprocal free trade at this time. The greatest volume of tobacco shipped duty free into the United States was 188,181,000 cigarettes and 10,000,000 cigars. Sugar up to date has not come within one-half of that limit. Last year American importation of Philippine sugar amounted to 181,783 tons, valued at $9,142,838, compared with 128,926 tons, with a value of $7,144,755 in 1911.

* * *

The beneficial effect on local Philippine trade and on American export trade was immediate. In the first year Philippine exports jumped from $31,044,465 to $39,788,629. The following year, 1911, showed another slight increase, and last year jumped to $50,319,836. The figures for this year are expected to show $60,000,000 or more. The imports have been even more phenomenal. A gain of $10,000,000 was shown in the first year, that is, from $27,000,000 to over $37,000,000. In 1911 a splendid total of $49,832,722 was reached. Last year the imports were $54,549,980. This shows an increase of $4,716,258 in imports over the total of 1911. The other $5,000,000 increase was because of rice importations so that the actual increase in value of general imports was $706,929.

* * *

The rush of American goods to the Philippines caused a natural excess of imports so that in 1911 the balance of trade was against the islands for the first time since 1904. The difference against the islands, a trifle over $10,000,000, was not so heavy as it looked for the reason that the value of the articles imported free of duty from the United States by the army and navy and government of the Philippine islands, and importations free of duty for local railroad projects which were being aided by the government, which were not counted in former years, were totaled for the fiscal year 1911. This became necessary because a great deal of merchandise which formerly had been imported directly by the army and navy and insular government, free of duty under the provisions of the old tariff law, were in 1911 imported by Philippine merchants from whom the supply officers made their purchases. These free importations amounted to $4,816,-935 so that the actual balance against the islands was $5,183,160. Last year the importations still exceeded the exports but by less than half of the previous year, and it is believed that the import and export figures will balance this year.

I am telling you of why can't women be broad. I have seen such things done recently by those women I never intend to see in my life. I have nothing in common with them. Prosperity has killed them. I have always said not one person in two hundred could stand prosperity. I say so now most emphatically and then say woman is ready for the bullot. No they must still play bridge whist in the morning for a silly prize, which they seem to adore. Oh, for grand broad-minded sensible women. The young woman of today can't step, they only wear corsets, under-flannel and stockings. My own opinion is it is extremely vulgar and the hats nearly cover their eyes. You have got to look up under a hat to see who the young woman is. They won't do one particle of anything in the home and when they marry they won't stay married more than a year; then a divoce. I am downu on divorce, that was one of my great objections to Mrs. Stoney being president-general. There is always two sides. I never knew it to fail. BEFORE SIX

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

Almost all the qualities that are the curse of mankind are carefully taught to children. The child gets his stock of cussedness well laid in before he is six years old. Some psychologists say three.

We overrate the inherited meanness; most of it is absorbed from his environment by the child along with his first ideas.

In the realm of fundamental moral truths most families are medieval, some of them almost pre-Adamite.

The child's eyes are very sharp, his absorptive power is strong. He sees through you and unconsciously reproduces you.

"Go away and don't bother! Stop that noise and clear out of here!" By this the child gets the principle that the ideal condition, the one enjoyed by papa, is one of self-indulgence; that when one is at ease one is happy, and when any irritation is at hand one is to be fretful and impatient. Children have to learn bad temper, petulance and anger, and they are well drilled in these arts.

They learn also the lie that while in the realm of dead matter there is inexorable and fixed law, in the realm of spirit there is only whim. They soon see that to put their finger in a candle flame brings immediate pain; to disobey parents, to be "bad," may or may not bring suffering; it all depends upon how his rulers happen to feel. Moral painful effects are to be dodged. This is the foundation of the criminal character.

He learns the medieval error that life is to be governed by rewards and punishments, and not by an intelligent knowledge of consequence. "If you are a good boy I will give you an apple, and if you are naughty I will spank you." So he grows up with the rotten spot in his mind, that good and bad mean pleasing or displeasing some one in authority, and do not mean his own consciousness of moral quality.

He is carefully trained to obey Authority and not to govern and obey himself. The average parent has no conception of the fact that democracy, or self-government, is as essential in the family as in the state.

Sometimes he learns that to fawn, cringe, flatter and lie will bring him what he wants, and to be honest will only cause trouble. Having by their negligence and selfishness thoroughly drilled their child in the art of lying and hypocrisy, parents wonder why he is not "good" when he grows up.

"What would company think if you should act so before them? You must practice being nice at home so you can act nicely before people." Thus is the child trained in the most demoralizing principle a soul can name—namely, to make "what other people think" his moral standard. In other words, he is taught to be as wrong, unclean and unjust as he likes, provided he is not found out.

The child bumps into a chair and cries. The mother says: "Naughty chair! Mamma whip chair," and beats the furniture. Thus the little soul is taught that barbarous principle of Vengeance, which is the curse and blindness of all criminal law.

When the child is good we do not notice him; when he cries we pet him and offer him everything. Thus he learns the fatal principle of "government by nuisance," and how to attain his desires by making himself disagreeable.

Many are taught the vicious principle of being a burden upon others. They are never made to pick up their strewn playthings, attend to their own wants and wait upon themselves, without which habits there can be no real brotherhood nor religion.

They are taught to rule when they can, and serve when they must; yet no character is sound when one does not act precisely in an opposite way, serve when he can and rule only when he must.

They are taught that lawbreaking is pleasant and only to be refrained from for fear of punishment; instead of the truth that the only pleasure is in finding out the laws of the universe and keeping them.

Take it all in all, grown-ups deserve a deal of credit for being as decent as they are.

Make Your Garden Your Living Room

Gardens ought to be used more. People ought to live in them, read in them, eat in them, play in them, entertain friends in them. A small, comfortable, well furnished, well kept garden immediately adjoining the dining room, with proper facilities for these various activities, becomes an extension of the house itself. It ought to be the best room in the house—at least all summer.

One who goes from America to visit the gardens of the Old World, especially the home gardens of England and Germany, is most immediately and strongly impressed with the spirit of privacy which he finds there. The whole garden is apt to be surrounded by a high wall of masonry, and every access is guarded jealously. In the garden one is quite as safe from intrusion as in the master's den or the mistress' boudoir.

It is very different from the American town lot garden, wide open to observation from the street, published broadly to all the neighbors' windows, especially the kitchen and bedroom windows, and subject to visit at any moment from the grocer's lad, the plumber, the coal dealer, the laundry boy, or any other errand boy. Why, the privacy of English and German gardens is so great as to make them favorite courting grounds and meeting places of engaged couples.—Woman's Home Companion.

To whom you'd send some word, my friend."
Up spake that gallant tar:

"You take this message, mate," he said,
"Ere I my moorins slips,
And find my bride and say I died
With her name on my lips.
Her name, you say? Well, one is May.
But I've sailed several trips!

"There's Sally Brown of Dover town,
And Milly, Jane and Nell;
If you look in that there book
You'll find out where they dwell.
There is a score or maybe more—
You won't? Then I'll get well!"

He was a jolly mariner
That rose up, strong and fit,
And then said he, "Well, hully gee!
I'm bruised a little bit;
But I've my life and nary wife
Is left a widow yit!"

Many a man rides downtown on the water wagon in the morning—and tries to walk back that night.

If a diamond is hard what about the heart of the pawnbroker who refuses to advance more than 10 per cent of its value.

SUNDAY SONGS AND SERMONS

REV. W. J. RAY SPEAKS AT RAILROAD Y. M. C. A.

Alabama Evangelist to Address Railroad Men at Assn. Rooms Sunday at 3:30

There will be a meeting of more than ordinary interest at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association rooms, 31 1-2 West Alabama street, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. W. J. Ray, an evangelist, who is in Atlanta assisting Rev. F. J. Flemming, of the Grant Park Baptist church, in a revival service, will address the meeting. He arrived a few days ago from Avondale, Ala., where he held a most successful series of meetings.

Railroad men of Atlanta running to Birmingham heard him at his Avondale meetings and secured him for this service. They speak of him in the highest terms, and a real privilege is offered the railroad men of Atlanta to hear him on this occasion.

The singing will be an enjoyable feature, and this will be supported by the association's fine orchestra. All men are cordially invited.

ROME PASTOR CONCLUDES THIRTY YEARS' SERVICE

ROME, Ga., June 21.—Next Sunday marks the close of the thirty-year pastorate of Dr. R. B. Headden at the First Baptist church of Rome. He resigned as pastor, but will continue his connection with the church in the relation of pastor emeritus, and will retain his residence in Rome.

Dr. Headden's successor has not yet been chosen, but the committee in charge of the matter has a number of names under consideration, and it is probable that a call will be announced in the near future. A short time ago a call was extended to Dr. L. R. Christie, of Columbus, Ga., but that minister found himself unable to accept.

Fathers' Day, Second Baptist

On Sunday morning the Second Baptist Bible school will celebrate Fathers' day. Judge J. T. Pendleton has prepared a special lesson for the fathers, and after the lessons the school members of the junior and intermediate classes will recite verses from the Bible relating to fathers. All fathers are invited to come and bring their children. Opening exercises begin promptly at 9:30 o'clock.

At R. Y. M. C. A.

REV. W. J. RAY.

Evangelist, who will speak at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

DR. C. A. RIDLEY TEACHING MINISTERIAL STUDENTS

Dr. Caleb A. Ridley, of Central Baptist church, is giving one night each week to teaching a class of young men who have announced their intention of becoming preachers of the gospel. The class includes Dr. Ridley's own son and the two sons of Mr. S. C. Speer, of the boys' department of Central church. The class meets for one hour every Thursday night, from 7 to 8 o'clock. It is open to any young man who may desire to attend. Just now the class is beginning "Bible Studies By Books."

You Scarcely Believe It, Do You?

A Little Sermon for the Women of Tomorrow.

By Rev. Loy Warwick

I Will Keep My Mouth With a Bridal.

No, we do not "expect to hear boys swear." Why should we? Why should boys swear? Why should anybody prefer bad and foul language? What is the advantage of swearing anyway? Much can be urged against the habit. Who can say anything in its favor? It is foolish to say that you can drive mules, or manage negro laborers better for swearing at them. Even the mules appreciate gentlemanly treatment. I think they know a gentleman when they associate with him very long. He acts and speaks unlike the other owners and drivers they have known. If the mule could speak he would tell you that swearing is not one of the marks of a gentleman.

But I did not intend to write about mules and men who are full of strange oaths. My little sermon today is for the ladies of tomorrow. I have said that we do not expect to hear boys and men swear. There is no sense in the habit and no excuse for it. You cannot defend. You can only apologize for it.

BUT WHAT ABOUT GIRLS?

But what has all this to do with girls, you wonder. What connection is there between ugly curse words and beautiful young women? Surely you do not know any who swear? I am afraid I do. And it becomes them about as much as trousers and a beard. One of Falstaff's friends confessed to a vast dislike for a man with a beard. But the beard suits her about as well as the habit of profane speech, or anything akin to it.

Let the boys and men have a monopoly on all these bad things. The drinking woman, the smoking woman, the swearing woman, the mannish woman—these offered our sense of the fitness and rightness of things. What man wants a militant suffragette for a wife? Or who would want one who smokes cigarettes and swears like a sailor?

Now it may not be very sinful to use the words you girls use on the golf links and at school and at home. It may not be very, very sinful. But it certainly is vulgar. It shows your lack of good taste. It is an evident lack of refinement. It shows that you are of the earth, earthly. It reveals your lack of the finer feelings and emotions that we love to think of as belonging to the gentler sex.

Some of you can hardly bring yourself to believe that there are any girls who use "bad words." I wish you were right. I wish that all the girls who read this paper would live so that no young man could dare use an oath of any kind before them. "I will keep my mouth with a bridle. I will not offend good taste and good morals by using words akin to swear words and oaths. I will be clean in life, in lips, in love—in all that belongs to my womanhood."

THE WOMEN OF TOMORROW.

The girls of today are the women of tomorrow. The women are the homemakers of the republic. They set the pace. They are the conservators of morals and religion. God's standard for man and woman are the same. So far as I know there is but one set of Commandments in the Bible—but one moral law. And that applies to men just as it does to women. The double standard was conceived in sin and born in iniquity.

But the world does expect much more of a girl than it does of a boy, more of a wife than of a husband. And in this the world pays a great compliment to womankind. We place her but little lower than the angels and crown her with glory and honor. We want to look up to our women. We want to feel that beauty and truth and purity dwell with them always. And God save our women and save our land when these things are not true.

Ill fares the land to hastening ills a prey
Where wealth accumulates and men decay.

And manhood will decay when men lose respect and reverence for women. If women would conquer and reign as a queen she must not stoop. Pure and undefiled religion for her means to be kind and gentle and to keep herself unspotted from the world.

The girls of today are the women of tomorrow. So let us pray God to keep them pure and womanly. But they must help themselves. Purity is a gift of God. It is also an achievement. The great God Himself cannot make a noble, lovely woman of a frivolous, flippant girl whose thoughts and desires keep her tied to the earth all the time. We must let the good Lord have a chance at us, if we would. Build stately mansions for our souls While the swift seasons roll.

Remember now thy creator in the days of thy beautiful girlhood. Look up and not down. Lift up. "Do noble things, not dream them all day long." Have the dream, the vision. But do not be disobedient unto the heavenly vision.

Thus alone may you attain
To such sweetness as meets the eye
Sees the world as one vast plain,
And one boundless reach of sky.

The Modern Beggar

Lady at the door—Any rags today? Friday I have only plain broth to give you.

Beggar—Never mind, mum. I always carry soup packets about with me.

REV. AUSTIN CROUCH.

Of Murfreesboro, Tenn., who has just closed a stirring revival at the Kirkwood Baptist church.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL AT KIRKWOOD BAPTIST ENDS

Thirty-One Accessions to Church Under Preaching of Rev. Austin Crouch

A series of meetings was held in the Kirkwood Baptist church beginning June 9 and extending through June 20. Rev. J. L. Jackson, the pastor, was assisted in the meetings by Rev. Austin Crouch, pastor of the First Baptist church, Murfreesboro, Tenn. Mr. Crouch preached twice each day, and he and Mr. Jackson conducted several other services on special occasions.

Mr. Crouch is an able minister of the gospel. His sermons were strikingly eloquent, and that they produced a profound impression is attested by the fact that the church received thirty-one members by letter and baptism.

During Mr. Crouch's two weeks' stay in Kirkwood he and Mrs. Crouch, who accompanied him, made many warm friends.

Kirkwood Baptist church is rapidly growing in numbers and influence. Its pastor, Rev. J. L. Jackson, is a wise, sympathetic and indefatigable worker. He is nobly assisted by his devoted wife. The congregation and the Sunday school have outgrown the church building, and a movement has been started for the erection of a new edifice at a cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

C. Y. Smith State Tennis Champ--Decide Double Honors Today

"PERFECT RECORDS" MADE IN GAMES THIS SEASON

Wallace Smith Tops the Bunch With Five Hits in Five Times Up—King, of Chattanooga, Has Thrice Gone Through Game With Perfect Record—Several Perfect Records Made against the Cracker Hurlers

In just twenty-nine ball games in the Southern league has a player made a perfect average with the willow, some getting as many as five hits in five times up while others have made just one hit in one time up. Smith, of Atlanta, Clark, of Mobile and Sloan, of Montgomery, are the performers who have made as many as five hits in as many trips to the pan.

Of the stars who have been "kings for a day" Bert King, of the Chattanooga club is the leader. Three times this boy has had a perfect batting average and each time it was at the expense of an Atlanta hurler, Price, Brady, Dent and Musser being the hurlers he had such success against.

Just four Atlanta players—Pat Graham, Whitey Alperman, Harry Welchonce and Wallace Smith—have come through a game with a perfect average and of this bunch Smith tops the list. Welchonce and Graham each made three hits in three times up, Alperman got four in four trips and Smith five in as many times up.

To get a perfect batting average for a day is rather remarkable and not often accomplished even by the best. Wildness by a hurler often will enable a batter to get a perfect average at the bat, a couple of walks and a hit by a pitched ball being of material assistance. This was what gave King, of Chattanooga, a perfect average on June 14, Musser walking him three times while the other time he hit safely.

The records of the boys who hade made three safeties in as many times up, those who hit safely four consecutive times and Smith's five in a row are what count. This shows that they were not getting passes or being hit but were up there stinging the pli. each time. It was hurled over the mark.

The twenty-nine perfect averages made to date have been made by twenty-six players, King and Dave Robertson being the only two players to break into the charmed circle on more than one occasion. King has been in the charmed arena three and the Mobile Gull has been there twice. Robertson's two trips have yielded him eight hits in as many times up while King's three trips resulted in just seven hits in seven times up.

Six of the twenty-nine perfect averages have been made against Atlanta pitchers, three times Price being touched up for the 1,000 percentage. Once it was against Musser, once against Dent and once against Dent and Brady. King, Cribbens, Williams and Thompson are the players to hit safely each time they faced the hurler, Williams leading the bunch with four hits in four times up.

STALLINGS IS A REAL BUILDER; MAKING GOOD CLUB AT BOSTON

Pitcher Tyler and Manager Stalling, at top; Hess, Whaling and Captain Sweeney, in middle; Maranville and Brown, at bottom.

Nothing much is expected of the Boston Braves these days, although with a man like George Stallings at the helm no one is surprised at anything.

Stallings is a bench manager, a southerner, and a gentleman of the finest instincts. He is one of the men lifting baseball out of the muck of rough-necks. What he is a hustler and a fighter for his team's rights.

Give Stallings a couple of seasons with Boston, and we be does not produce a winner it will be strange.

Just now, like Frank Chance, he is using a team that was wished upon by his predecessors and can only stagger along as best he can.

Among the Braves, the most sensational performer is Maranville, the shortstop, whose work has been on a par with that of any man in the league.

Otto Hess, the veteran southpaw, has been showing flashes of rare form, and Tyler, another left-hander, has been pitching good ball. Stallings has the nucleus of a good team, and if he can fill a couple of holes will give any National league club an argument. And George is a dandy little hole-plugger, if given a chance.

Stallings is a great believer in picking up young stars. Only last season he grabbed Mary Calhoun, the ex-Tech star first sacker, and some weeks ago picked up Wilson Collins, the sensational young athlete from Vanderbilt. It is young blood he is after.

Fastest Pace Of the Year For Saturday

New Machines Will Be Used by Motordrome Riders—McNeil and Richards to Get Together in Big Matches

When the starting gun booms from the announcer's stand at the Atlanta motordrome tonight at 8:30 it will set in motion the third meet of the Atlanta racing season—and will inaugurate what looks like the best card of them all.

By dint of some around and lofty juggling of riders every heat has been made a close race. The feature of the card tonight will be the Mayor Woodward sweepstakes, an event in which the preliminary heats will be at two miles and the final heat at five.

The drivers spent yesterday afternoon tuning up their machines and trying out the track, which has been deborned to the extent of paring off numerous bumps and irregularities. At present the track is as smooth as a piano top—and a good deal faster.

In order to keep close tabs on the race for the southern board track championship, Jack Prince has prepared the following table of victories, which gives a line on what the various riders have done thus far this season:

Rider.	First.	Second.	Third.	Total Pts.
Richards	3	0	1	19
McNeil	1	0	5	8
Renel	0	2	0	8
Shields	0	0	2	6
Graves	0	1	0	4
Lockner	0	0	1	2

The program for tonight's meet follows:

WOODWARD SWEEPSTAKES.

First Heat, 2 Miles—No. 7, Georges Renel; No. 2, Harry Swartz; No. 6, Fred Luther.

Second Heat, 2 Miles—No. 10, Harry Glenn; No. 9, Henry Lewis; No. 4, George Lockner.

Third Heat, 2 Miles—No. 3, Billy Shields; No. 1, Morty Graves; No. 8, Jock McNeil; No. 5, Wilmer Richards.

Fourth Heat, Final, 5 Miles—For winner of each heat and second man in fastest heat.

CLEAN SWEEP FOR HARVARD IN ANNUAL WATER EVENTS

NEW LONDON, June 21.—For the sixth consecutive time Harvard's varsity eight-oared crew triumphed over the Yale oarsmen in the long, four mile race that closed the annual inter-university regatta here this afternoon. Preceded by the two crimson victories of the forenoon and the two wins on Thursday, it completed a Harvard sweep that has been equalled only once or twice in the long history of Yale-Harvard rowing. Tonight bands of Cambridge students are parading the streets shouldering new brooms emblematic of the crimson sweep of the Thames river.

The final defeat administered to Yale was so crushing that the English stroke and rowing methods imported from Oxford are being ridiculed.

Sweeping down the river with a steady and consistent stroke Harvard crossed the finish line eleven lengths ahead of the blue in 21 minutes and 42 seconds. The Eli eight rolled and splashed across in Harvard's wake just 38 seconds later.

Except during the first mile the race was marred by a procession with the crimson steadily increasing the lead. It was not that the Yale oarsmen broke or failed to get speed out of their English stroke, but Harvard surpassed them in every department of rowing.

As the Yale shell drifted under the railroad bridge Stroke Decker and Lippincott at No. 2 toppled forward, while Philbin at No. 4 was so exhausted that he reached for the shell dangerously before he could recover himself.

So far as the English stroke as taught by advisory coaches Kirby and Gold, of Oxford, was concerned the Yale oarsmen appeared to get considerable power and speed early in the race, but during the last mile it was simply a case of every man rowing for himself with little rhythm or form.

Speaking of the English stroke former varsity oarsmen said it would take several years before Yale could expect satisfactory results with the new system. The race was nip and tuck for a few hundred yards and then the crimson eight rowed slowly into a fair lead. The crews battled their way for seven terms again just as the mile flags were reached and that was Yale's last stand.

From that point the blue slipped gradually back, first a few inches and then a few feet, until finally the margin reached lengths.

At the mile and a half flags Harvard showed open water before Yale. Still stroking 36 to Yale's 32, Harvard had a lead of 2 1-2 lengths at the two miles and gained steadily thereafter. Yale faded away completely in the last quarter and with the yacht Siren wailing and cannons booming Harvard, now confident winners, swept down the long lane of gaily colored craft, while the blue eight, beaten and blinded by the strain, splashed with their sweeps in a pitiful attempt to finish in a fashion befitting the athletic traditions of Yale.

Half a mile from the bridge Harvard dropped her stroke to 32, yet at that led by six lengths, and then in the final burst of victory hit it up again to forty, while eleven lengths behind the blue was wavering even at 36 strokes per minute.

The official times of the two teams by miles was:

Mile—Harvard, 5:11; Yale, 5:12 1-2.
Two miles—Harvard, 10:41; Yale, 10:49.
Three miles—Harvard, 16:07; Yale, 16:28.
Four miles and finish—Harvard, 21:42; Yale, 22:20.

Yale Elects Captain.

GALES FERRY, CONN., June 21.—Captain Charles Nelson Snowden, of Pittsburg, No. 2 on Yale's 'varsity eight, was re-elected captain following the race tonight.

Harvard Elects Captain.

RED TOP, CONN., June 20.—Quinby Reynolds '14, of Montclair, N. J., was elected captain of the Harvard crew after today's races. He rowed as bow oar of the 'varsity eight.

Errors Lost For Atlanta

Inability to deliver the punch at the right time coupled with decidedly ragged fielding enabled Birmingham to win the second straight game from Atlanta on Friday. Atlanta outhit the visitors, but when you are continually chalking up bad errors there isn't much chance for the superior hitting to ride you over, so the Crackers lost 3 to 1.

Fast fielding was all that enabled the Crackers to hold the score as close as it was. Four fast doubles proved a big help in time of trouble.

Pitcher Hardgrove suffered a very painful accident in trying to stop a hard drive from Wallace Smith's bat. Wallace hit it back towards the pitcher at a mile-a-minute clip and when Hardgrove failed to get out of the way the ball bounded from the ground to his head and cut a deep gash. It was necessary to take the hurler from the field and it will doubtless be weeks before he is able to again work.

One of the distinct features of the game was the work of Knisely in center for the Barons. Besides making a sensational stab of a long drive from Tommy Long's bat he drove out a clean home run over Welchonce's head. The Baron outfielder also made another safe hit and scored two of the three runs made by Birmingham.

While Brady pitched a fair game of ball it was his errors which materially aided in the scoring of two of the three runs by the Barons. Both wer wild throws to first base, something most unusual for Brady.

Wallace Smith played his usual jam up game all the way. In the second he made a most sensational pickup of Mc*Bride's hard drive and in the sev*enth his catch of Eilam's foul was spectacular. But then you always expect Smith to do the right thing on his every chance.

Tommy Long has certainly been hitting in hard luck during the past week. He hits the ball hard, but they don't fall safe. Twice in Friday's game he was robbed of safeties by sensational fielding.

After Hardgrove was injured Bill took up the hurling job and managed to get away with it. Hardgrove was hit hard throughout the time he was in the box, but most of the drives went directly at some fielder.

Tocson First to Cross The Finish Mark

NEW YORK, June 21.—The motorboat Tocson, owned by William Mulford of Ocean City, N. J., crossed the finish line off Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, at 4:02 a. m. today, winning the Crescent Athletic club trophy for a return race from Bermuda.

The Barbara II. crossed the finishing line at 9:24 o'clock last night, but because of the rating could not win with less than an eleven-hour margin. The two boats, having competed in the Philadelphia-Bermuda race, left Hamilton for the return at 6:27 Tuesday evening. The Dream, winner of that event, did not participate in the return contest.

SMITH STATE CHAMPION; DOUBLE MATCH SATURDAY

RESULTS

Nat Thornton Is Defeated in the Finals in the Single Events

Carleton Smith Friday took the Georgia state tennis title from Nat Thornton, defeating him in straight sets 7-5 6-2, 6-2. It was just a case of Smith's hard drives doing too much for the ex-champion. Thornton pushed Smith close the first set, almost winning it, but the pace was too strenuous for him to keep up the next two sets. Both men were way off their usual form, losing many points by their wildness. Thornton made some nice volley shots at the net and was fairly accurate in side line placing. Smith relied more on the force of his drives than on their placing. He seemed unable to split lines as he did last year. His cross court shots, however, gave Thornton much trouble and several times kept him trotting up and down the back line.

Thornton's service was far from what he usually puts up and he served too many doubles. When his fast one went in, however, it was hard to handle and he served the only aces of the match. Thornton's handling of Smith's service was good. He chopped it or drove it down the side lines, but only to have it sent back by Smith's terrific stroke on fore or back hand.

On the whole the match was not as good as the one the two engaged in on the East Lake courts last year. Both were in much better form then and the points were much faster and harder played.

In the consolation singles Harry Hallman, the Tech star, took J. K. His chop stroke that Orr's treasure is handy fashion 6-4, 6-0. was too much for Orr, throwing him out of position by the cross court chops. Orr fought hard the first set but weakened considerably in the second as the score shows. Hallman's work in the tournament has been good throughout and but for the fact that he drew Ed Carter first round he would have undoubtedly gone higher in defeating such men as Scott and Orr in the consolations, however, he has shown that he will have to be reckoned with in coming tournaments.

Another interesting set was played in the mixed doubles where Miss Stanton and Nat Thornton defeated Mrs. Hall and Carleton Smith. Miss Stanton's playing featured this match. She served well and was able to make effective returns of hard drives. The scores in the match were 7-5, 6-4.

The final round in the doubles will be played Saturday afternoon at four o'clock. Smith and Mansfield oppose Grant and Thornton. The teams are well balanced and the match is sure to be close and hard fought. If Grant and Thornton can hit their old time form that won them the southern title they will have a slight advantage. Smith and Mansfield will prove the faster team and will most likely take the offense.

Charles Prasse, better known as "Sailor Burke," has been engaged to instruct the sailors at the Brooklyn navy yard in the manly art of self-defense. The position pays $1,800 a year and the rank of warrant officer.

Conzelman and Prough Pitch

The Barons close here today, ending the home stay of the local club. This last game of the series will be called at 2:45 on account of the fact that both teams must catch a train, Atlanta going to New Orleans and Birmingham to Mobile.

Joe Conzelman, who has won three straights for the Crackers with his cool head, will be on the hill this afternoon, and if he has the stuff he has been showing there should be nothing to it for the Barons.

BASE RUNNING OFF

Atlanta Club Is Far Behind at Base Stealing Game While Mobile Has Jumped to Top by Showing Class in This Line

—BY JULIAN MURPHEY.—

If ever there was a ball club equipped with good base runners and failed to use them to any advantage whatsoever it is the team which now wears the word "Atlanta" across the front of their shirts. The running outfit the team ranks nil while in most every other department of play it is the class of the league. And the base running ability is there, but is not utilized.

Where is there a club in the league equipped with base runners who as a whole are any better than Tommy Long, Harry Welchonce, Harry Bailey, Wallace Smith and even Joe Agler and Whitey Alperman. Long, Welchonce, Bailey and Smith are all fast runners who know how to slide and they are the only players in the world yet they know the game sufficiently well to outguess the other team and often get away with a stolen bag.

TEAM RANKING LAST.

Official figures through the games of the past week show that the Atlanta players had swiped just fifty-eight bases in fifty-eight games. This is just an average of one per game and is mighty low when it is considered that the catchers now in this league are not the deadliest peggers that ever wore the uniforms of Southern league teams. With Mobile the base stealing game is one of the very strongest points. Mike Finn's outfit has pilfered 127 bags in sixty-two games or more than an average of two per contest, all of which is not quite so bad.

Right now the Mobile club is toppling th Southern league while Atlanta is a bit down the ladder. Despite the difference in the standing the Crackers are outhitting and outfielding the Mobile club but the superiority shown at the base running game gives the Gulls the advantage. And maybe it is the advantage in just this one feature of play which puts Mobile at the top and Atlanta not so high.

ARE GOOD BASE RUNNERS.

Records speak louder than words and a glance at the work done by some of the Crackers in seasons past will show that they are good base stealers and there is no reason why they should not keep it up. Just take the case of Tommy Long. Last season he was with Mobile for but sixty-three games, but in that time he swiped seventeen bags, which is about one base in every three games. However, right now he is doing nothing like this and yet he is hitting probably .100 points higher than last year.

Nor are Welchonce, Bailey, Alperman or Agler base stealing up to their 1912 mark. When you remember that all were hitting poorly last season and were with a tail-end club it seems rather impossible that their base stealing mark of this uneventful year should eclipse the marks being made this season when the club is right in the thick of the fight and all are hitting higher than last year. In 123 games last season Welchonce swiped twenty-four bags, Bailey in 137 games pilfered twenty-five sacks, Alperman swiped twenty in 133 games and Agler fourteen in seventy-five battles.

The base stealing mark of eighty-one thefts in 135 games, which was set by Jimmy Johnston, is not even approached this year. And this base stealing demon was largely instrumental in the Barons copping the rag.

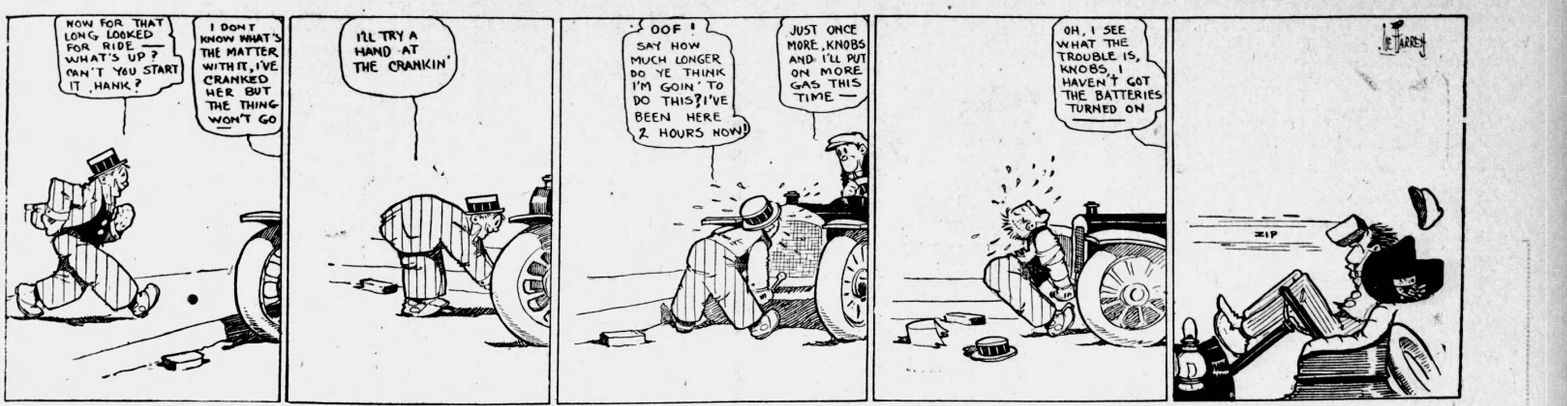
Crackers off on Road Trip After Saturday's Game With Barons

KNOBS CRANKS AND CRANKS---BUT WHAT'S THE USE?

---BY FARREN



NOW FOR THAT LONG LOOKED FOR RIDE— WHAT'S UP? CAN'T YOU START IT HANK?
I DON'T KNOW WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH IT, I'VE CRANKED HER BUT THE THING WON'T GO
I'LL TRY A HAND AT THE CRANKIN'
OOF! SAY HOW MUCH LONGER DO YE THINK I'M GOIN' TO DO THIS? I'VE BEEN HERE 2 HOURS NOW!
JUST ONCE MORE, KNOBS AND I'LL PUT ON MORE GAS THIS TIME—
OH, I SEE WHAT THE TROUBLE IS, KNOBS, I HAVEN'T GOT THE BATTERIES TURNED ON

FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE COME BACK.

Who says they never
Come back with the punch again?
Back to the fold
Of the walloping bunch again?
With the facility,
Speed and virility
And the agility
Of the old bunch again;
Who is it—speak—says the "come back" is weak—
As weak as the punch of a doll?
If it is true—pipe me, old stew—
How about Battling Nelson?

After an absence
Of months from the game again,
Here he comes back
And he's looking the same again;
Shining and streaming,
Bulging and beaming,
Glinting and gleaming
And out for a name again;
Who now, alack, says they never come back,
Or come with the punch of a doll?
For in reply here the hot million sigh
"How about Battling Nelson?"

Speaking further of "come backs," how them Athletics? Only they never went away. They merely took a world series vacation last year to break the dull grinding monotony of the thing.

If America's "Big Four" in golf can follow the example set by the Polo Four and other U. S. entrants, England won't have a cup left to drink out of. Ripping rotten stymie, my word.

And now they've matched Gunboat Smith and Boer Rodel again. Oh, very well, so long as it isn't compulsory.

THEN AND NOW.

Fred Clarke, April 1st—"Yes, we expect to beat the Boston Red Sox in the next world series. I can't see how," etc., etc. Fred Clarke June 18th—"I think we have a corking good chance of beating out the Boston Braves. If my pitching staff holds up," etc., etc.

We see where an old pal, C. Smith of the Cubs, is coming through nicely. Back with Atlanta in 1903 we thought Charles would be considerable pitcher one of these days. He has waited ten years to verify our judgment, but they say it's better late than not at all.

Charles has drawn the most varied career of any one in the game. He beat Rube Waddell while pitching with Cleveland and a week later was sent to New Orleans. He as sent from New Orleans to Atlanta and from Atlanta to the Big Show. Since which he has displayed his varied goods in Washington, Boston and the Eastern league and four or five other centers of polite baseball. And now here he is one of the main members of the Cub staff just when they were about to attach the can to his gaunt system again.

THE LAST STRAW.

In the fall clutch of circumstance,
As Mr. Henley said;
I scarcely weep or cry aloud
Or bow my anguished head;

But there are times my iron will
Admits a sole defeat,
And one of these is when I lamp
That "White Hopes" plan to meet.

"If it isn't one thing," sighs F. Clarke, "it's another." And it's generally another.

We admire the spirit which prompted owner Frank Farrell to stop gambling on his team in town. But on the theory that ft takes two to make a bet, who was taking the Yankee end? What are the odds on or against a club that on June 18th had won four games at home against the other seven clubs?

The gamblers were probably taking the visiting team and the populace backing the Yanks. Which is about what the average gambler considers an even break or a sporting chance. Any pop-eyed boob willing to stack his coin up against one of these rats is over due for whatever he absorbs.

GORDON, SEWANEE HURLER; SIGNS WITH MACON TEAM

The Macon club in the South Atlantic league added another man to its list of college try-outs Saturday when Johnny Gordon, star hurler and captain of the Sewanee baseball team, reported for work at the camp of the Peaches.

Gordon has been ready to sling a pen across a Macon contract ever since the Tiger team played Mercer there this spring. The college southpaw looked good to the Macon manager and he was at once offered a contract.

Following the game with Vanderbilt this spring, Gordon signed up and sent the parchment down to Macon. He left school this week, passing through Atlanta Friday night on his way to the Central City.

Gordon should make good with a rush in the Sally. He has had three years' experience in college ball, being the Tigers' leading hurler for two seasons past. This year he was captain of the team, and although handicapped by certain conditions, pulled his team through a successful season which wound up when Sewanee tied the series with Vanderbilt.

Gordon has graduated from the university and there is no reason why he should not enter professional circles. He is a port-sider and has lots of stuff, swift and with plenty of curve on it. He is also a good hitter, exceptionally so for a pitcher, and uses his head as it should be used and not to hold down his shoulders, as a great many young hurlers are wont to do. He should go higher next year.

Thrasher to Rome

ROME, Ga., June 21.—Frank Thrasher, the outfielder who has led the Appalachian league for three seasons in hitting, has been purchased by the Rome team of that league from the Columbus, Ohio, team of the Ohio State league. Thrasher had been playing under an optional agreement with the Cleveland team until that team disbanded and the franchise was transferred to Morristown. Since that time he has been at his home in Cleveland recovering from a sprained ankle.

Golf Tourney

PORTLAND, Ore., June 21.—Only one northwestern team proved a match for the middle westerners today in the medal play golf series on the Waverly course. D. Flegar and A. S. Kerry, of Seattle, defeated Howard Lee, of Detroit and C. B. Devol, of Chicago, two up and one to play.

The best match of the day was that between "Chick" Evans and Warren K. Wood, of Chicago, who defeated Harry Davis, of this city, and H. Chandler Egan, of Medford, Oregon, one up.

THIS IS THE LUCKY FAN

The ball club is going away from home Saturday, but the ticket for this fan is good upon return. Just identify yourself and ocme to The Journal office for the ticket.

NOTES FROM THE EMPIRE

BY G. FORT ANDREWS.

Although it is practically conceded that Valdosta has cinched the pennant for the first half of the Empire league, which comes to a close July 3, Cordele is making the race a little uncertain by the rapid strides made recently. It is doubtful if Valdosta can be headed because Otto Jordan, once he has the best of anything, generally knows how to hold on.

President Oscar Groover thinks the Empire league will blow up if the teams don't get within the salary limit. He is right in insisting that the limit be observed, but it is doubtful if the league is going to blow up this year from any cause—the division of the season making the race more interesting and even for all concerned. Groover is making the clubs observe the class C player limit all right.

Brunswick's changes spell but one thing—the pennant winner in the Empire is going to have to reckon with Brunswick and reckon seriously at that. With Charlie Moran as manager, the Pilots are sure to hustle from now on.

Few prettier games than the thirteen-inning contest Tuesday between Waycross and Thomasville have been played in the Empire this season. The game was replete with features and was anybody's until the last out. Dudley, who caught for Thomasville, was in the game at all stages, and his pitcher, Day, of the Cotton States, was going unusually well.

That the Empire league will send a number of players to higher company this season is certain. Practically every team in the league has one or more players who will go up. Already scouts from the South Atlantic and Southern have looked over most of the teams. The prospects are that within a short time a few deals will be closed whereby players will get into higher company without delay.

Waycross had to lose six straight games before the losing streak was broken and then to make sure of the change the Waycross team won two the same day—shutting Thomasville out in two fast and highly exciting games Wednesday. Wild Bill Clark, who managed the Columbia, S. C., team in the Sally league, pitched both games for Waycross.

When it comes to gameness the fans at Americus take the honors. They have stuck by their team through the worst kind of luck and are now reaping their just reward. Americus has today one of the strongest teams in the league and will certainly be well up in the league standing if not at the top before baseball fans know what is happening.

Old-time baseball enemies meet today for a three-game series. Waycross is playing at Brunswick, Cordele, and Thomasville, at Valdosta. Unless something very unexpected drops all games will be battles royal. The cities named have for years past been the bitterest kind of enemies on the diamond and each would rather beat the other than win the pennant.

To Valdosta and Americus belongs the record for the hardest fought game yet played in the Empire. The two teams played a thirteen-inning nothing-nothing game at Valdosta, which was going some. Waycross enjoys the distinction of having made the only triple play in the Empire to date, one that the team pulled off in the first series of the season in Brunswick.

As far as the records show no league in the country has a schedule that provides a game in each city of the league on the Fourth of July. Every member of the Empire will have baseball on the Fourth, and fans are expecting big affairs, too.

Fans in the Empire have found that attendance is what means the life of the league and hardly any city has fallen down despite continued losing streaks. Everybody goes to the games in the Empire. Business men make appointments at the games, and railroad men get calls for their runs while attending games, so keen are they on the game. Excepting in one or two cities where the local association feel that money is everything, ladies' days are being observed and no charge whatever made for ladies.

Cordele winds up the first half of the season at home with Valdosta. Waycross plays at home with Americus, and Brunswick at Thomasville. That all series will be closely contested goes without saying and incidentally the rsg for the first half may be won or lost in the last three games of the season.

Interest in the Southern league race is next to that of the race in the Empire in cities that make up this circuit. If fans get much warmer on the Southern league affair arrangements may be made to give Southern league returns by innings at the Empire games.

ED PLANK GETTING OLD BUT IS AS GOOD AS EVER

Was Predicted Some Eight Years Ago That Vet Mackman Was All in, but He Is Still Winning Ball Games

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 21.—Admirers of the Philadelphia Athletics are now raving over the great work being done by Eddie Plank, veteran twirler of Connie Mack's team and one of the greatest southpaws in the history of the game.

This is Plank's thirteenth season as a big league boxman, and to date he has been the biggest winner of the present campaign in the Athletic firing pit.

Last season Plank won 26 games and lost 6 for a grand average of .813. Such a record would be hailed as phenomenal for a youngster at the height of his career. But for one who, by all the rules of baseball, should have long ago been cast into the discard, the performance was nothing short of a miracle. And the grizzled veteran appears to be primed for just as many victories for 1913.

Plank was born in Gettysburg, Pa., in 1875. He is five years older than Mathewson and fourteen years older than Marquard. Eddie was an "old-timer" in baseball years, twenty-six when he first broke into the big show, in 1901. When the Giants banged him all over the lot in the world's series of 1905 it was thought that Plank had seen his best days as a pitcher and was due for the quick slide into the bushes. But six years later, when Plank had reached an age at which the average player has either retired from the game or is filling the role of manager or umpire, Plank finished a most successful season by again twirling against the Giants in a post season series, this time standing them on their heads.

A friend of Plank's has compiled a record of his big league career that shows the great veteran as having performed in 464 championship games for a total of 305 victories and 139 defeats.

He has helped Connie Mack win four American league pennants and two world's championships and local fans predict that he will continue to be the most effective Athletic twirler in the present race in which the White Elephants are looked upon as favorites.

A wonderful record for a man who was supposed to be on the toboggan eight years ago.

Cornell Looks Like a Winner

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21.—The seventeen crews of Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Washington and Syracuse put finishing touches on weks of training for today's big regatta with light practice this afternoon. All the crews were on the river.

Tonight the hotel lobbies were thronged with supporters of the various crews. Cornell was the favorite as last year. Not many large wagers were reported and wagers that Cornell will take all three races are but few.

Few people know the fastest time trials of the various crews entered in the big race but it can be authoritatively stated that the fastest four miles made by any one crew was that of Pennsylvania early this week.

Coaches, however, place no dependence on time trials.

Cornell and Columbia are believed to have the smoothest rowing 'varsity crews. Coach Rice, of Columbia, and Coach Courtney, of Cornell, both express confidence and Coach Conibear, of Washington, points to his, the heaviest 'varsity crew in the game. Despite the tremendous power in the Washington shell is demonstrated by the fact that, when under way the wind from the No. 2 oarsman passes the rudder, a condition that does not exist with any other crew. The blade of the oar used by the Pacific coast crew also is wider than the oars of the other crews.

The Wisconsin 'varsity crew will be in the race with its new stroke Bobsteadt.

Melvin Sheppard deserves a rest. No man in the annals of sport has excelled "Peerless Melvin's" work in the last six years in which he has competed longer distances. In 1908 Sheppard ran 20 half-miles under 1 minute, 57 seconds, a feat never before or since approached.

Sunday School Holds Picnic

The picnic of the Central Presbyterian church at Powder Springs on Thursday was marked with many unique features. The little folks were provided with games, wading and fishing, while the larger children had cracker-eating contests, "bear fights," three-legged races, one-leg tug-of-war, relay races, etc.

Features out of the ordinary were athletic championship contests between the Junior Brotherhood and the Covenanters, as well as other boys of the Sunday school between the ages of sixteen and twenty.

Blue, red and white ribbons were the prizes awarded by the Sunday school, but the Brotherhood offered some special prizes, consisting of athletic toggery, and the winners in the athletic events were delighted with the double distinctions they received.

Of the winners Ross, Pope, Perkins and Veal are members of the Brotherhood, while Messrs. Griffin and Jarvey represented the Covenanters.

The committee on athletic and field sports consisted of Messrs. Massey, McLazen and Wey, and the program planned by them was very satisfactory.

Messrs. William McCauley and J. W. Brown were the judges of the contests, and succeeded in making a getaway to the train with whole bodies.

The pole vault and 240-yard dash could not be reached, and several swimming contests had to be left off because of the water being better adapted to wading than swimming.

The result of these sports show the advantage of athletic training as an adjunct to church work. Working boys who do not attend colleges and schools are frequently debarred from athletics, but enjoy them and derive as much benefit from them as their more fortunate brothers. The Central Presbyterian church in providing a gymnasium for its intermediates and juniors, has taken a step that has been demonstrated to be wise and helpful.

The Junior Brotherhood is one of the organized classes, and has taken the lead in providing the apparatus and encouraging competition along these lines. They are a husky bunch of youngsters numbering about thirty, as jolly as they are active, but ready to submit to a "trimming" gracefully.

Best at Hitting But Dropped Game

VALDOSTA, Ga., June 21.—In a good game Thomasville took the second of the series, 2 to 0. Valdosta outhit the visitors two to one, but the latter brushed three of their four hits in the third inning, winning the game. Zellars outpitched Day, but Thomasville's twirler had the break of luck. Another large crowd saw the game.

Yale Clashes With Harvard

Game Saturday at Brooklyn Is the Rubber, Each Having Won One

NEW YORK, June 21.—Harvard and Yale men flocked to New York today from New London where yesterday they saw the crimson vrews defeat Yale in three races on the Thames, for the final test of the athletic forces of the two universities for the season on the baseball diamond, on Ebbette Field, Brooklyn, this afternoon. It was a play-off a tie effected at Cambridge Wednesday when Harvard defeated Yale by a score of four to three in a fourteen-inning struggle after Yale had won the opening game of the series on New Haven on Tuesday by a score of 2 to 0.

The Yale team has lost only three college games this year and it appeared to be a slight favorite today. Many of the collegians went to Poughkeepsie to see the inter-collegiate regatta, but as neither the crimson nor the blue crews are represented in this, the baseball game was the main attraction.

A pitchers' battle was looked for between Gile, the mainstay of the Eli team and Sam Felton, who was largely responsible for the Harvard victory Wednesday. Felton went the entire route in 14 innings and allowed only seven hits in that contest.

First Race Since 1910

NEW YORK, June 21.—Eight horses are carded to start today at Belmont park in the first running of the historic Brooklyn handicap, since 1910 when the anti-betting laws caused a temporary suspension of racing in New York state. Time was when the best horses in the three-year-old and upward class always faced the barrier to strive for the honor of winning the mile and a quarter event and the big purse that came with victory.

In the race of tomorrow, are entered sons of noted sires. Heading the list is Harry Payne Whitney's Whiskbroom II, a son of Broomstick, winner recently of the Metropolitan handicap. Whiskbroom II, is asked to pick up 130 pounds the top weight of the race. G. M. Miller which ran second to Whiskbroom in the Metropolitan will carry 103 pounds.

Ariel Rowing club, of Baltimore, is the latest to secure the sectional setyle of eight-oared shell. It can be taken apart and is easier to ship to out-of-town regattas.

Quo Vadis continues at Grand next week; buy seats now.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Scarcity of Poultry Products

THERE seems to be a shortage of poultry products all over the United States this year. From nearly every town in the south there comes reports that the poultry crop this year is unusually short and high. Not only is the supply of fancy fowls raised this year more than 300 per cent short of what it has been in the last two years, but this also applies to common chickens as well. Hens are selling at 16c to 18c per pound gross and 20c to 30 per pound dressed. When these prices are to be had you can rest assured the supply is short, as supply and demand absolutely govern the price in both poultry and eggs. Broilers and fryers are scarce and high in all sections of country. From present indications the supply of both thoroughbreds and common chickens will continue be scarce throughout the entire year. They are simply not in the country and cannot be had. The high price of feed has caused hundreds of people to dispose of or do eat their chickens and it will be a hard matter to replace them. Georgia will probably again this year send out of the state $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 for chickens and eggs. The thing does not seem to be getting any better about our producing our own supplies, but instead seems to be growing worse every year.

The question is how can we possibly stop this state of affairs? And, how long will we continue to buy nearly everything we consume? The egg market while bountifully supplied during the early part of the season has maintained a fair price for eggs. A great many people claim that the price is low, but comparing it with many other years you will find that the price is much better than it has been for many years during the same season. The people who have taken care of their fowls and have a nice lot on hand do not realize or appreciate what they have, but before this year is over they will find out and the man who has the goods to deliver this coming winter should certainly reap a harvest. The farmers, as a rule, have been unable to borrow money this year. They have done without. The crop prospects are good and the result will be that the farmers will have more money to spend this coming fall than they have had in many years, and I look to see them buy liberally of not only fowls but hogs, cattle and good breeding horses as well. Every indication points to this and I see no reason why there should not be the best opportunity now ahead the coming season for the man who has stock of all kinds to sell than there has been any time during the past ten years. Those who have chickens should certainly congratulate themselves, take care of them, let the public know you have them and the coming fall will bring you such a trade as you have never enjoyed before. This same state of affairs does not only exist throughout the south, but in other sections of country as well, and as food products in the shape of meats continue to remain high and are getting higher at all times the opportunities that are presented now for the poultryman are such that they should feel proud of, and it looks like the trade will again be during the next few years what it was several years ago, with everything pointing to prosperity in the future, and specially the man who has something to eat for sale.

The famers and breeders should feel more encouraged now than ever before and feel like there is money on the farm for the man who produces something to eat. The large mass of people in the cities and the small towns are compelled to eat and live, and the man who raises something to supply to these people certainly can get their money for it. One of the great troubles with people who produce something for market is that they never do get the price that they should receive for it, and it does not encourage many to continue to produce. The middleman to a certain extent is the one who gets the larger per cent of profit in comparison to the work he does. They, as a rule, are the ones who have forced hundreds of people to stop trying to produce as they know that they cannot get the price that they should for their products. I believe one of the most serious propositions today that confronts the farmer and the producer is the thing of knowing how to get the worth of his products for them after they have been produced. There is a market and a demand for them products, but the producer is not always in touch with the ones who will pay the highest price and they usually have to sell their products, especially in limited quantities for just what they are offered for them. One thing that discourages people in producing something to eat more than anything else is finding a market for it and getting a price that they should receive for a profit, and so many have so much trouble in disposing of their products after they have been produced at a reasonable price until they are discouraged and many quit on this account.

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Atlanta, Ga.

I would like very much for you to give me some information in regard to my feeding my little chicks. I have the White Leghorns. They are healthy and growing fine, except one thing. I feed them on the red comb scratch and meat mash. I give them a little fresh beef scraps about once a week. Will the fresh beef scraps hurt them? Please advise me if I am not feeding them right, and advise me how to feed them to make their comb grow. I will appreciate any information you can give me in regard to them.

Hoping to hear from you in the columns of The Atlanta Journal, I beg to remain as a chicken chaser.

J. N. P.

ANSWER.

Usually with age Leghorn chickens' combs will grow. It is not necessary to have them show much growth while they are young, as this will usually come right later on with age.

The feed that you are giving, especially the meat, has a tendency to encourage the growth of comb and as they get older you will find their combs will begin to get larger. Lots of meat will always have a tendency to grow an extra large comb. You can add from 10 to 15 per cent meat scraps to the Red Comb meat mash for your chickens. There is enough already in it for old chickens, and like it is at present is splendid for young chickens.

Shelley Ivey Buys Leases on Stores at Nos. 119-121 Peachtree Street, in the Candler Building—Some Small Sales Announced Today—Work to Be Started on Peachtree in Month or So—Big Volume of Transfers Today

Shelley Ivey, proprietor of the College Co-Op, has bought two leases on the stores at 119-21 Peachtree street, in the Candler building.

The consideration in the sale of the leases was not mentioned, but the entire term represents something like $50,000.

Mr. Ivey will move his business in these stores between July 1 and 10. He will then have a total frontage of 28 feet on Peachtree street. The Southern Pacific now occupies one of the stores.

The leases have eight years and four months yet to run.

A few small sales were announced today, embracing parcels from $6,500 on down.

Building is keeping up well, and the record for 1913 so far is not very far behind that of the corresponding period last year. It is not likely that the aggregate for 1913 will be as great as that of 1912, but the comparison will still be quite favorable.

SMALL SALES.

Lochridge, McClain & Moon announce the following transactions:

Kleinman Bros., nine-room two-story house, for S. B. Ledbetter to client; $4,000 cash.

College Park home and 4 1-2 acres, for John L. Moon to S. B. Ledbetter; $6,500.

699-701-703 East Fair street, three six-room houses for Dr. C. H. Wikle to a client for $4,000 cash.

Lakeview, DeKalb county, two vacant lots for George Tumlin to H. N. Weathers for $1,100.

Fayette county, fifty-acre farm for client to J. R. Fowler for $2,500.

College Park, six vacant lots for J. R. Fowler to Rev. J. G. Hunt; $1,600.

Roswell road, 4 1-2 acres for J. R. Fowler to client; $6,500.

569 Woodward avenue, W. H. McClain to client; $5,500 cash.

WORK ON PEACHTREE.

Work of repaving Peachtree from Fifteenth street to Buckhead will be started within thirty or sixty days, according to an announcement made today by County Commissioner Shelby Smith.

This will make a smooth pavement from the entrance of Ansley Park north to Buckhead, one of the most attractive streets of boulevard in the country.

VOLUME OF TRANSFERS.

A large volume of transfers, both in Fulton and DeKalb counties, is shown in today's record.

These transfers include a number of bonds for title as well as several new transactions in the warranty deeds. A strict comparison of the volume of medium class transactions would show that small business is as good as last year, and in some instances better.

BISHOPS WON'T ACCEPT CARNEGIE'S $1,000,000

Methodist Bishops Refuse Offer for Medical School for Vanderbilt

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 21.—At a called meeting of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, extended by nine members of the college of bishops, a veto message was drawn up setting forth the following objections to the action of the board of trust in accepting the recent gift from Andrew Carnegie to the Vanderbilt Medical school:

That the action of the board of trust of Vanderbilt in accepting the gift of a branch of trust created by and under and by virtue of the resolutions of the Memphis convention, which constitutes the foundation of Vanderbilt university; that said action is beyond the powers of the board, and that it constitutes a diversion of a large portion of the funds and property of the university from the trusts upon which said property is held; is contrary to the terms of other gifts to the university, and is illegal, null and void.

The resolutions vetoing the $1,000,000 gift by Carnegie were adopted unanimously by the college of bishops.

A copy of this action will be duly certified and forwarded to the secretary of the board of trust of the university.

Those attending the meeting were Bishops Collins Denny, E. R. Hendrix, W. R. Lambuth, E. D. Mouzon, J. C. Kilgore, J. H. McCoy, H. M. Moss, H. C. Morrison and W. W. Candler.

In addition to a veto message, the bishops addressed a general message to the church, stating their reasons for opposing the gift. They say, in part:

"If this gift had been offered without embarrassing conditions, as all other gifts to the institution have been made, we should have offered no objection to its acceptance; but the conditions attached to this gift and the letter accompanying it, which must be taken as expository of the conditions, are such as lead us to believe it cannot be accepted without a breach of trust and without dishonor to the church, if conditions are fulfilled in good faith to the donor.

"We are as unwilling that Mr. Carnegie should be deceived as that the university should be dismembered and the church of God dishonored."

Sewanee Abandons Idea Of Medical Department

By Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 21.—As a result of Andrew Carnegie's recent gift of $1,000,000 for the medical department of Vanderbilt university, the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., has given up all design of establishing a medical department at Nashville as extensively planned for some time ago.

Resolutions to this effect were adopted by the Sewanee board of regents at Sewanee yesterday. It is charged in the resolutions that letters have been received at Sewanee from representatives of the Carnegie fund, "expressing emphatic disapproval and even hostility to the establishment of medical department by them in Nashville."

It is also charged that the donation to Vanderbilt was for the purpose of giving that institution supreme control of the medical educational interests in this city. Any attempt to locate a medical school here, under such a handicap, it is said, would involve Sewanee in financial liabilities which it is unable at this time to assume.

BOY OF TEN CHARGES OVERSEER WHIPPED HIM

Officials Investigating Allegations Against Georgia Industrial Home Supervisor

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., June 21.—Because he is said to have remained away from the Georgia Industrial home longer than he should, while out picking blackberries, Marvin Williford, ten years old and an inmate at the home, is alleged to have been whipped yesterday afternoon by W. F. Armor, farm overseer at the home.

Several hours later the boy came to the city and told the story of his alleged treatment to the police headquarters. He is now at police station, where he will remain until Superintendent H. A. Harris investigates the alleged whipping.

Superintendent Harris and Mayor Moore will have a conference this afternoon, at which time the matter will be investigated, it is said, the alleged numerous lacerations on the little fellow's back and legs. It is alleged that a plow line was used on the lad after he had been whipped with a switch.

The child was brought here from Fitzgerald a few months ago. If he has not sent back to the home he will be sent to his mother in Fitzgerald at the expense of the city. The affair has created much comment here.

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE OPENS SUMMER TERM

The forty-seventh annual Summer term of the Chicago Musical College convenes Monday June 23, with a staff of sixty teachers and an enrollment which numbered more pupils than have ever matriculated for this term of study in any previous year. A great percentage of the out of town pupils claim as their residence southern states and territories where they either attend school during the winter or are teachers in the literary and musical institutions. Special classes in all departments and special concerts and series of lectures have been arranged for the summer term.

COAST-TO-COAST STRIKE THREATENED BY BUILDERS

CHICAGO, June 21.—The prediction of a coast to coast strike in sympathy with the Chicago union men locked out by the Building ConstructionEmployers' association was made today by Simon O'Donnell, president of the Building Trades council.

According to O'Donnell, union men in cities throughout the country are awaiting his word to tie up the construction work of the nation. "However, said O'Donnell, "we will hold out until the last minute before taking such drastic action."

Fifty-Six Dollars For Forty Cents is Jury's Idea of Ratio

Fifty-six dollars for forty cents, is the ratio of exchange pronounced proper by a jury in superior court, Saturday, in deciding a damage suit brought by George P. Howard against the Pullman company.

Howard, however, wanted $2,000 for wounded feelings, for being what he called "insulted" out of forty cents by a Pullman conductor during a trip between Atlanta and Rockdale, Tenn.

The plaintiff told the court that he bought an upper berth and paid $1.60, the regular tariff for it. He didn't want to go to bed, so he requested that the berth be left unmade. The conductor then insisted upon $2, the price of a lower berth. After some argument Howard was forced to pay the forty cents difference or leave the Pullman.

He told the court that the conductor abused him verbally and humiliated him.

Only One City Was Hotter on Saturday Than Was Atlanta

Phoenix, Ariz., was the only city in the United States which was hotter on Saturday than was Atlanta.

At noon, as the people sweltered all over the city, the thermometer in the weather bureau registered 90 degrees, and the mercury still was rising.

Phoenix, Atlanta's rival for the day's heat honors, was leading this city by 14 degrees at that hour.

Forecaster Von Herrmann says "out and dry" for Sunday, so Atlanta must prepare to sizzle at least for another day and probably for longer, as the forecaster says there is no rain in sight.

SEARCH FOR BODY OF AVIATOR PROVES FUTILE

No Trace Can Be Found of Ensign Billingsley, Who Fell From Plane Friday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 21.—Search for the body of Ensign William D. Billingsley, the naval aviator who lost his life yesterday, was vigorously prosecuted today.

Lieutenant John H. Towers, who was Billingsley's companion in the air craft and narrowly escaped death, was reported to be much improved. Every indication, the doctors said, pointed to his recovery.

Up to noon no trace of Billingsley's body had been discovered. Superintendent Gibbons, of the naval academy, offered a reward of $100 for its recovery.

Messages of sympathy were received by the naval academy authorities today from Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Dr. Cauro Muller, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, who is in Chicago.

Mr. Daniels expressed his deep and sincere sorrow at the untimely death of "brave young Billingsley."

Lieutenant John Towers Is a Native of Rome, Ga.

By RALPH SMITH.

Washington, June 21.—Lieut. Jno. H. Towers, of the navy, who fell from the airship yesterday and survived, is a native of Rome, Ga., where his mother, Mrs. Mary N. Towers, resides.

He was born on January 30, 1885, and was appointed to the Naval academy on August 30, 1902.

Upon his graduation he was attached to the battleship Kentucky and later on to the battleship Kearsarge. In June, 1911, he was transferred to the battleship Michigan of the Atlantic fleet.

On August 23, 1911, he was ordered to Annapolis to join the aviation squad. He attended the international aviation meet at Chicago from September 6 to 9, 1912, as a delegate from the navy department. On December 17, 1912, he was designated as aviator in charge and directed the winter work of the aeronautical squad at Guantanamo.

STATE OF GEORGIA, Fulton County:

Notice is hereby given that on June 30, 1913, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, application will be made to the judge of the superior courts of Fulton county, Georgia, at the court house in said county, for an order authorizing him, as guardian for Marguerite H. Fugate, now the wife of Mitchell Sizemore, to sell the following property of his said ward, to wit: All that certain lot of land lying in the following real estate:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the city of Atlanta, fronting fifty-two (52) feet and five (5) inches, more or less, on North Boulevard, by a depth of one hundred and one hall street, and running back to an alley on Bartlett Street, a distance of one hundred and six feet on the short line and one hundred and seventy-one (171) feet and five (5) inches on the long, or more, and bounded on the west by lots three (3) and land lot 85 in the 14th district of said county, and bounded on the east by property now or formerly conveyed to Henry L. Smith by John B. Walker, March 1, 1911, and more particularly described in book X, page 412 of Fulton county records.

The reason for making said application and sale is that said property is paying practically no income, the improvements thereon are old and depreciating in value, and in addition will necessitate the expenditure of considerable money for the improvements thereon, before same can be leased for a reasonable rental, and for leasing. Said property is no longer desirable as a residence property and is rapidly depreciating as to value, and it would be to become more expensive constantly to keep in order and in repair.

This notice is given under and in pursuance of Section 3065 of the Code of Georgia of 1910.

Given under my hand and official signature this June 7, 1913.

GEO. GUNNIN for Marguerite R. Fugard.

E. V. CARTER, Attorney for Guardian.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 21.—Confederate soldiers who fought "to maintain the rights of their sovereign states" rendered a "public service," in the opinion of the Kentucy court of appeals, which yesterday upheld the Confederate pension act passed by the last legislature.

The pension act allows $10 a month to disabled, indigent Confederate veterans who served one year or to the close of the war and who have been residing in Kentucky since January 1, 1907, and to a widow of a Confederate soldier married to him prior to 1890.

More than 5,000 claims are awaiting the action of the pension board.

THIRTY-DAY DELAY IN PEACHTREE ROAD WORK

County Is Tied Up—Can't Pave From City to Buckhead Yet

Members of the public works committee of the Fulton county commission admitted Saturday that the repairing of Peachtree road, between Fifteenth street and Buckhead, authorized two weks ago, would not b bgun for a las hiry days and possibly not before sixty days.

Chairman Shelby Smith's resolution authorizing the work, called for the construction to begin immediately, but it was found that men and machinery required for the job would not be available for some time.

County commissioners said Saturday that they recognized the importance and necessity of putting this bad strip on the county's principle highway in shape, but other work now being done had not been completed with the speed anticipated.

The resolution providing the Peachtree work called for the repairing and scarifying of the strip this year and the repaving of the road some time during 1914.

Shelby Smith explained Saturday that the county would be at the work as soon as possible, but when a resolution of the board said "immediately" it might mean anywhere from thirty to sixty days.
